

Ohio State Fair Opens 12-Day Run Under Fair Skies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1974 Ohio State Fair, second largest agriculture and entertainment exposition in the world, began its 12-day run today under partly sunny skies with ideal weather in the offing.

With the weatherman predicting temperatures in the 80s, Gov. John J. Gilligan cut the ribbon at daybreak to allow the first of an expected more than two million persons to start passing through the turnstiles.

"We know that in every respect this will be the greatest in all respects of the Ohio State fairs during its very, very long history," Gilligan told a crowd gathered at the main gate as the sun rose over the midway.

Then, in an unusual occurrence, Democrat Gilligan met at the fair entrance with former Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes who brought his grandchildren and relatives to the opening of the fair. Gilligan and Rhodes oppose each other in the November general election.

Fair officials are hoping this year's extravaganza, billed "Family-A-Fair," will top last year's record attendance of 2,223,589. Last year the Ohio fair attendance was second only to the Texas State Fair, which had a longer run.

Featured at the free grandstand today, kicking off a lineup of top entertainment stars over the 12 days, was Tony Orlando and Dawn, a musical trio that has sold 25 million records in three years.

Other entertainers scheduled for grandstand appearances include Liza Minnelli, who will get $50,000 for a two-show, one-day stand; Red Skelton, Johnny Cash, the Seals & Crofts, the Beach Boys and stars of the Hee Haw television show.

Officials said the fair offers the world's largest livestock exhibition with more than 22,000 animals, the world's largest horse show with more than 2,400 head and the world's largest amateur boxing tournament.

There also is automobile and harness racing, a wide variety of midway rides, a balloon race, parades, high school bands, square dancing, baton twirling, basketball tossing and cupcake eating, among other things.

The Skyride, four-fifths of a mile roundtrip, allows visitors to see the fairgrounds from the air while saving some shoe leather in getting from the north fairgrounds to the south fairgrounds.

Admission to the fair this year is $2 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. That's an increase from $1.50 and 25 cents last year.

But a spot check indicates that hot dogs still will be selling for 35 cents and sausage sandwiches for 45 cents. Most small rides still are 50 cents, with the larger rides ranging from 70 to 90 cents.

A new attraction on the midway this year is the Super Loop, on which cars run inside a huge loop, giving the rider a hair-raising upside-down trip.

ASHVILLE SIDEWALK SALE—Ashville was a busy village Wednesday as the streets were lined from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. with bargain-hunters at the annual Sidewalk Sale and Farmers Market. Items for sale included fresh produce items, cooked corn-on-the-cob, antiques, oil paintings, and just about everything imaginable. Prizes were given away every hour and there was entertainment.

Ford Moves Solidly; Eyes 1976

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford opened his door to congresswomen, more mayors and governors and another union leader today in his measured march to solidify the political foundation for a 1976 bid for a full four-year term.

He arranged to discuss foreign affairs with two liberal senators and pose for campaign photographs with House Republican candidates.

The schedule also includes a political meeting with GOP national chairman George Bush and the chairmen of the party's two congressional campaign committees and a private dinner with his vice presidential nominee Nelson Rockefeller and key congressmen.

After a meeting with Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., Ford scheduled a ceremony to sign a proclamation on women's equality with a number of congresswomen present.

Before a private meeting with Seafarers Union president Paul Hall, he was signing an $11.9-billion Housing and Community Development Act with an audience of more than 30 mayors and an assortment of governors and county officials.

The private dinner with Rockefeller will be his first since moving into the White House on Monday.

The full schedule today followed free-wheeling display of presidential politics which carried him through bureaucratic corridors and congressional halls Wednesday, the day he disclosed a change of position in his 1976 plans.

Through White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst, Ford declared he "probably will run" in two years for a full term in the job he has held less than two weeks.

As vice president, Ford said he could not envision being on the 1976 Republican ticket under any circumstances. But terHorst said "now his position has changed. Therefore, his view has changed."

Later in the day, Ford laughingly deflected questions on the subject from newsmen who approached him outside the Oval Office as he was returning from a visit to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and Capitol Hill.

"I want you to worry about that," he said when prodded to declare his 1976 intentions. But his reticence seemed motivated more by jest than anything else.

In a move perhaps unprecedented, Ford went to HEW to sign a $25 billion measure extending federal education programs and imposing new curbs on forced busing of school children.

Unofficial records showed that no previous president had gone to a government agency to sign a major piece of legislation.

Before stepping into the department's auditorium for the signing ceremony, Ford strolled down a long, drab corridor of the headquarters building, shaking hands with federal employees who stood in office doorways.

From there, he headed to Capitol Hill where in unusual, informal appearances on the floor of the House and Senate he furnished his already glowing relations with Congress.

"... We can march toward the center in achieving some good results for our country as a whole," Ford told the Senate in praising action to re-establish the Cost of Living Council, limit appropriation bills, and implement housing, pension and education programs.

He said it doesn't matter that Congress and the executive branch fail to see eye-to-eye on some issues. "It only matters that we end up on the best side for America," he said.

In the House, where he served 25 years as a Michigan congressman, and in the Senate, Ford received standing ovations, hundreds of handshakes and scores of friendly slaps on the back.

The HEW-Capitol Hill outing was sandwiched between two other moves to further bolster his congressional program.

Arabs Trying To Boot U.S. From Azores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Portugal has received an Arab offer of $400 million to refuse renewal of U.S. airbase rights in the Azores, according to U.S. intelligence sources.

Arab representatives also were said to have offered to lift the oil embargo against Portugal.

The Arab aim, as U.S. intelligence men view it, is to deny the United States use of the key Lajes Airbase in the Azores for any future arms airlifts to Israel.

The treaty covering U.S. use of the Azores base ran out in February. Negotiations are under way on renewing those base rights for another five years.

Most U.S. allies and friends, apparently concerned about displeasing the Arabs, refused permission for the United States to use bases on their soil last fall when the U.S. Air Force flew emergency war supplies to Israel, then battling with Egypt and Syria.

Portugal was the exception. With tacit Portuguese consent, U.S. transport planes were able to land and refuel at Lajes, permitting them to haul big loads 6,000 miles from the United States to Israel.

The U.S. Air Force also was able to fly F4 Phantom jet fighters to Israel by refueling them in the air from tanker planes based in the Azores, which is about 1,100 miles west of Gibraltar.

The United States normally maintains no combat planes at Lajes, only refueling and maintenance facilities manned by about 1,000 specialists who service Military Airlift Command flights to southern Europe and the Mediterranean area.

Reports of the Arab offer were said to have come from Portuguese political sources, prompting some U.S. officials to suggest that Portugal might be trying to pressure the United States into raising the ante for retaining rights to the Azores base.

However, other officials felt the Portuguese sources intended to alert the United States to the Arab move and favored continued American use of the base.

These officials said many Portuguese still resent past Arab activities in support of anti-Portuguese guerrilla movements in Portugal's African colonies, even though the new government in Lisbon is moving toward freeing those colonies.

Greyhound Comes To Town Tomorrow

Bus service will return to Circleville 9:45 a.m. Friday when the first Greyhound bus picks up passengers enroute to Chillicothe.

Greyhound Lines, Inc., granted temporary authority from the Ohio Public Utilities Commission to operate routes formerly serviced by the Lake Shore System in Southern Ohio, will have three routes daily from Circleville to Chillicothe and three from Circleville to Columbus.

Larry Cupp of Larry's Marathon has indicated he will be the local Greyhound agent. The stop is at his service station on the corner of N. Court and Watt Sts.

The Columbus to Chillicothe run, traveled on Route 23, will pick up passengers in Circleville at 9:45 a.m., 5:25 p.m., and 10:40 p.m.

The Chillicothe to Columbus run will pick up passengers here at 12:20 p.m., 3:50 p.m., and 11:45 p.m. All routes will be carried seven days a week.

Greyhound Lines were awarded the Southern Ohio routes after the Columbus-based Lake Shore System announced cessation of service.

Larry Iler, Greyhound's director of customer service, said the Cleveland-based bus line will initially use the same routes serviced by Lake Shore. Agents will temporarily remain the same.

Greyhound will operate its Columbus to Chillicothe service strictly on Route 23, he said, indicating the company's "first concern" is to start a route between Columbus, Circleville, and Chillicothe because of "the size and importance of the cities."

The only intermediate stop will be in South Bloomfield.

Greyhound is currently seeking permanent authority from the PUCO to service Southern Ohio. The temporary permission expires in February.

Public support for continuation of the service is needed, Iler said. Service representative will be in the area to poll public opinion.

Greyhound will also operate routes from Columbus to Athens, Parkersburg, and Zanesville.

Special routes for students at Ohio University, Athens, to most major cities in Ohio will be started in October, he said.

Inflation, Working Wives Cut Corporate Transfers

CHICAGO (AP) — Inflation and wives who are taking careers more seriously are beginning to thwart some corporate plans for employee transfers, a moving industry survey shows.

Corporations aren't as generous as they once were in paying for employee transfers and employees are responding with reluctance to move, according to the survey of 286 companies.

It also shows an increasing tendency for employees to balk at relocation because of their spouse's careers.

Transfers could slow more, said J.J. Thorne, vice president of marketing for Atlas Van Lines, who conducted the survey.

Thorne said that throughout the moving industry he hears rumors of declining business.

Van line rates have risen 15 per cent in the last year, boosting average per-move cost for Atlas corporate customers from $1,318 to $1,494.

Cost-conscious firms have responded by slicing "moving extras" such as reimbursement for motels, house hunting and transportation. Cuts averaged 22.4 per cent, from $1,932 in 1972 to $1,500, Thorne said in an interview on Wednesday.

He said 37 per cent of the companies polled had one or more employees refuse transfer in 1973.

One reason is that wives are taking their careers more seriously, Thorne found.

Thorne said he has conducted the survey for the past seven years but hadn't seen the need to ask about the reluctance of wives to move until a year ago. He said this year he found that 67 per cent of the companies responding had problems talking wives into moving because of their own jobs.

"Let's face it, a move—any move—is going to be tough for a family ... and wives who want to hold onto their jobs just increase the problem," Thorne said.

"It's more than a little scary. Our business generally follows the general economy by a year. There was a recession in 1964 and we felt it bad in 1965. Now, we're really worried over 1975."

He said gross revenues for the moving industry are up 28 per cent over last year, but mostly because of industrywide rate increases. He said the actual number of shipments in July dipped 6 per cent from July 1973.

Guyer Dinner Off; Ford Absent

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A political fund raising dinner was canceled by U.S. Rep. Tennyson Guyer, R-Ohio, after the main speaker, President Gerald Ford, said he couldn't make the Sept. 25 affair.

"I think the country needs his time much more than we do," Guyer said in announcing the cancellation today.

The $50-a-plate dinner would have raised money for various Republican organizations.

Weather

Considerable sunshine today, high, upper 80s. Mostly cloudy with chance of showers or thundershowers tonight, low, mid 60s. Partly cloudy Friday, high, mid 80s. Probability of precipitation, 20 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 85; low, 58.

Rockefeller Slates Help To Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh from his first campaign trip as a vice presidential nominee, Nelson A. Rockefeller says he expects to spend a lot of time helping Republican candidates this fall.

Besides keeping four or five political speaking dates each month, dates made before he was nominated Tuesday for vice president, Rockefeller says President Ford "would like me to take some of his previous engagements."

But the former New York governor emphasized in talking to reporters when he flew here Wednesday night after speaking to a Republican dinner in Newport, R.I., that "it really depends on the President" and that no firm policy has been decided.

Earlier Wednesday, in Providence, R.I., Rockefeller sought to assure congressional Democrats that his campaigning won't be directed solely against them.

"I'll campaign for people, but not against anybody. I've never been a campaigner who slashed out at the other side," he said.

A top Rockefeller aide, meanwhile, said the nominee had also discussed with Ford the possibility of taking a major role in the administration's battle against inflation and of becoming head of the White House Domestic Council. But Hugh Morrow, the aide, said nothing final had been decided.

Rockefeller's fast-paced schedule here today includes 19 courtesy calls on Senate and House members, including his one-time rival, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Goldwater said on Tuesday that some GOP conservatives were upset when Ford chose Rockefeller. Asked about this on Wednesday, Rockefeller said now was the time for national and party unity.

"We've got too many serious problems to deal with petty squabbles and ideological squabbles," he said.

Rockefeller also planned to have lunch with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and dinner with Ford before returning to his Seal Harbor, Maine, retreat. Aides said Rockefeller hopes to have 10 days of relaxation after a press conference Friday morning.

In chatting with reporters aboard the Air Force Convair prop plane made available to him by the White House, Rockefeller said one reason he agreed to accept the vice presidential nomination, a post he previously had spurned, is that "this has just got to be a fantastic moment in American history."

"It's like tacking a boat, we're on a totally new tack," he said of the transition from the Nixon to the Ford administration. "I think it's very exciting."

Rockefeller said he hopes his confirmation hearings will begin in about three weeks and that a long-time aide, Robert Douglass, will be his representative in making arrangements with the Senate Rules and House Judiciary committees. He promised to do whatever the two panels demand, including supplying financial data, because "they're taking the responsibility for the voters."

He said he knows what his net worth is "in general terms" but added: "They'll be somewhat disappointed in the amount."

Rockefeller said of his family's reaction to his nomination: "Happy (Mrs. Rockefeller) was great, but I don't think the children were too enthusiastic. I've been around a lot more (since resigning the New York governorship last December)."

Lancaster Driver Killed

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — A 19-year-old motorist from Lancaster, Ohio, was killed Wednesday in a traffic accident at the Westover interchange of Interstate 79 just west of here, state police said.

The victim was identified as Eugene Pifer.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market faltered again today in the persistent grip of concern over inflation, high interest rates, and an uncertain outlook for the economy in general.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 8.52 at 703.07, and losers tripled the number of gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said a new layer of uneasiness was added to the market atmosphere by fears that banks' prime lending rates, which have held steady at 12 per cent for several weeks, soon might begin climbing again after a renewed upturn in rates in the short term money markets.

CNA Financial was the Big Board's most-active stock, down 3/4 at 4 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .90 at 72.79.

The NYSE's broad-based composite index was down .54 at 38.06. The lowest close ever posted by the index since it was begun in its present form nearly 10 years ago was 37.69, on May 26, 1970.

Cyprus Talks Set In Near Future

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The leaders of the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities today neared a face-to-face meeting which President Glafcos Clerides said might be a first step toward a peace agreement.

"The cessation of hostilities and the holding of the ceasefire are creating conditions which are conducive toward finding a peaceful solution of the Cyprus problem," the Greek Cypriot leader said.

Clerides said he was waiting for Vice President Rauf Denkash, leader of the island's 120,000 Turkish Cypriots, to fix a time "when we can begin meeting to deal with a series of humanitarian problems which are of interest to both communities."

Denkash said earlier that the meeting could be held by Saturday, but Clerides said no time had been fixed yet. The two men, who negotiated on behalf of their communities for years before the overthrow of President Makarios and still say they are friends, have not met since the collapse of the Geneva peace negotiations Aug. 13.

Quiet Jawboning Proved Effective

WASHINGTON (AP) — A deft use of persuasion, or jawboning, stands so far as President Ford's ultimate weapon in keeping the lid on inflationary wage and price hikes.

And in its first use of the technique, the Ford White House has revealed its brand of jawboning is low-key and devoid of threats.

"I used to think jawboning meant just using threats or inducements to make people do what you think they should do," said Kenneth Rush, the White House counselor who was instrumental in getting General Motors to trim by $54 the average increase of about $500 per car it had proposed for 1975 models.

"But we're not trying to step in and tell people they can do this and not this. What we are trying to do is let them know that if they take actions which we consider unjustified, we will let the world know," Rush said.

Both White House and General Motors officials agree that in the latest case, the administration engaged in no threats and there was no bargaining.

The jawboning opened Aug. 8, the day before GM announced its price hike. GM officials Oscar A. Lundin and Henry W. Welch flew from Detroit to Washington to meet with Rush and Herbert Stein, outgoing chairman of

Scores Of Inmates Freed By Ruling In Connecticut

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "They were going to be released sometime anyway," Connecticut's top law enforcement officer said as the first of scores of inmates whose sentences were cut short walked to freedom.

The inmates, serving state Circuit Court terms of more than one year, were freed because the state Supreme Court ruled last month that 12 months was the longest sentence the lower court could impose.

The high court ruled that a longer sentence encroached on the authority of the Superior Court and violated the state Constitution.

In special proceedings on Wednesday, Hartford Superior Court Judge Walter J. Sidor declared the sentences of the affected inmates illegal. Circuit Court Judge Nicholas F. Armentano then resented each inmate to one year from the time each began serving his original sentence.

James W. Greene, a lawyer for the federally funded Legal Assistance to Prisoners, presented petitions for reductions in sentences from 198 affected prisoners. He said 19 of these had served 10 months, long enough to make them eligible for immediate release. The rest will be eligible as soon as they serve an equivalent period.

Greene said he was checking to see whether there were other prisoners who had been given sentences of illegal length under the Supreme Court ruling.

Connecticut prison officials reported that 21 inmates had left correctional centers around the state on Wednesday and that the processing of inmates eligible for immediate release would continue today.

State Police Commissioner Cleveland B. Fuessenich said that he would be reluctant to comment about the release without knowing who the freed inmates were and what they were charged with.

But Chief State's Atty. Joseph T. Gormley Jr. said, "It is purely a technicality. The people are receiving a benefit they are really not entitled to."

"There is no point in being upset

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today revised its latest estimate of the nation's total output of goods and services, listing the drop in output from April through June as less than 1 per cent.

The three-month period was the second quarter in a row to register a drop in real output the Gross National Product.

Two such quarters of decline are a primary indicator of recession.

The Commerce Department, responding to data received since the original second quarter Gross National Product report was issued last month, pegged the three-month drop at eight-tenths of one per cent. The earlier estimate had set the drop at 1.2 per cent.

The upward adjustment occurred despite the department's finding that inflation was stronger than originally estimated. The Gross National Product's version of prices showed a 9.6 per cent rise. The original estimate for the quarter had been 8.8 per cent.

The nation's real output is determined by adjusting the amount of the output in dollar terms to account for inflated prices.

Reforestation Plan Gets Under Way

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Land-owners may begin placing orders for the 1975 reforestation program offered for private lands by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

"The program is designed to provide trees for large rural tracts of land," said Ernest J. Gebhart, chief of the division of forests and preserves.

The trees cannot be used on residential lots, for Christmas trees or any ornamental purposes, Gebhart said.

He advised landowners to order seedlings by the end of the year to assure trees will be available next spring.

Prison Inmate Slain By Officers

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies ended a 36-hour revolt by prisoners holding a hostage in the Potter County jail by blasting their way inside and shooting the rebel leader to death. The hostage was rescued unharmed.

Darvin "Red" Meharg, 39, a former Wichita Falls policeman who had turned to crime, was killed on Wednesday as officers rushed the seventh floor of the jail after using explosives to blast the door open.

Meharg was felled by shotgun fire and three other persons were injured in the melee.

Pollution Alert Called In Toledo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo has been added to the pollution alert areas, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said.

An alert was in effect late Wednesday, the EPA said, as a result of weather conditions in the area.

Alerts also were in effect in Dayton and the Eastern Ohio counties of Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont and Monroe.

The agency asked industry in the areas to reduce pollution as a result of weather conditions.

Gasoline Tax Boost Pondered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Congress may be asked to raise the federal excise tax on gasoline by as much as 10 cents a gallon in a move to fight inflation and conserve energy, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The Times quoted unidentified administration sources as saying the Ford administration estimates such increased gasoline taxes could reduce consumption by as much as 5 per cent. That would put pressure on oil-exporting nations to lower their prices for crude oil and strengthen the dollar by reducing U.S. oil imports, the Times quoted its sources as saying.

Administration economic advisers believe $8 billion would be raised in additional gasoline tax revenues, and that could be used to reduce income taxes for families with annual incomes less than $20,000 or to help balance the federal budget, the Times said.

The income tax reduction would more than balance the increase in gasoline levies for lower and middle-income families, the Times quoted its sources as saying.

The paper said its sources emphasized that prospects for passage of an increased gasoline tax would depend in part on whether congressional leaders thought it could be approved before Congress adjourns, probably in mid-October.

"The program is designed to provide trees for large rural tracts of land," said Ernest J. Gebhart, chief of the division of forests and preserves.

The trees cannot be used on residential lots, for Christmas trees or any ornamental purposes, Gebhart said.

He advised landowners to order seedlings by the end of the year to assure trees will be available next spring.

Prison Inmate Slain By Officers

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies ended a 36-hour revolt by prisoners holding a hostage in the Potter County jail by blasting their way inside and shooting the rebel leader to death. The hostage was rescued unharmed.

Darvin "Red" Meharg, 39, a former Wichita Falls policeman who had turned to crime, was killed on Wednesday as officers rushed the seventh floor of the jail after using explosives to blast the door open.

Meharg was felled by shotgun fire and three other persons were injured in the melee.

Pollution Alert Called In Toledo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo has been added to the pollution alert areas, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said.

An alert was in effect late Wednesday, the EPA said, as a result of weather conditions in the area.

Alerts also were in effect in Dayton and the Eastern Ohio counties of Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont and Monroe.

The agency asked industry in the areas to reduce pollution as a result of weather conditions.

International Key Club Elects '74-75 President

Fred Bower, president of the Circleville Kiwanis Club, reports that Fess St. John, Cullman, Ala., has been elected president of Key Club International for 1974-75. His election climaxed the 31st annual Key Club convention in Houston in July.

Key Club International is a service organization of young men in high school. The Key Club of Circleville High School is sponsored by the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Dave Harman, 325 S. Court St., will serve as president of the CHS Key Club for the 1974-75 school year.

There are 3700 Key Clubs with a membership totaling 80,000 in the United States, Canada and the Bahamas.

Gary Corsano, Sydney, Nova Scotia, a student at Sydney Academy; and Wayne Cunningham, Ettrick, Virginia, a student at Matoaca High School; were elected vice-presidents of the organization. Jeffrey S. Kaessner, Downey High School, Downey, Calif., was chosen to serve as secretary.

Elected to Key Club International's Board of Trustees were: Robert Arnold, Downey High School, Downey, Calif.; Mark Bennett, Mt. Dora High School, Mt. Dora, Fla.; Robert Coffman, Hellgate High School, Missoula, Mont.; Robert "Buzz" Dixon, Newton High School, Newton, Ia.; Joseph Eby, Streator Township High School, Streator, Ill.; and Steven Harris, Westerville High School, Westerville, Ohio.

Also elected trustees to the organization were: Richard Jones, Lake County High School, Ridgely, Tenn.; Reginald Kipke, South Carroll High School, Marriottsville, Md.; Kevin Lungren, Frankfort Senior High School, Frankfort, Ind.; Charles Meagher, Crescent Heights High School, Medicine Hat, Alberta; Steven Smith, Northeast High School, North Little Rock, Ark.; and Gary Tayn, Lebanon Union High School, Lebanon, Ore.

During the convention, awards were presented to outstanding clubs and individuals for sponsored Key Club achievements during the 1973-74 administrative year.

Storms Rake Wide Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms, some of them severe, rumbled from the southern Rockies to the upper Great Lakes today.

Two mobile homes were destroyed and a third damaged Wednesday when storms hit near Mount Pleasant, in southern Iowa. Power lines and trees were downed in Albia and the roof of a Fairfield home was blown off. But no injuries were reported.

Wind gusts of more than 70 miles per hour blew into Clovis, N.M., and more than 5 inches of rain drenched Sedgwick, Kan., Wednesday night.

A few thundershowers also were scattered along the Gulf and lower Atlantic Coast.

The West Coast and eastern half of the nation were patched with fog. Visibility was zero in Lebanon, N.H.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 42 at Evanston, Wyo., to 90 at Blythe, Calif.

Thieves Get Gasoline At Litters

Between six and eight gallons of gasoline, costing $3.26, were pumped at Litter Fuel and Heating, 701 S. Pickaway St., by thieves who broke into the office.

Police Ptl. Ron Smith and Ptl. Kenny Henn, on patrol 5:45 a.m. Thursday, discovered that thieves had forced open the office door on the south side of the building.

Desk drawers in the office were looked through and two first aid kits were opened.

The officers said the switch on the wall that activates the gas pump was turned on and still running.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Unmarrieds Unwelcome

DEAR ABBY: A mother writes that her adult daughter is coming home for a visit and she's bringing her boyfriend, with whom she has been living for a year.

Mother's dilemma: Should she let them share a bedroom in her home, knowing they live together elsewhere? Mother says she doesn't approve of living together without marriage.

YOU ADVISED: "Tell them that in your home they have to go by your rules, and if they don't like it, send 'em to a motel."

Abby, please don't send them to MY motel. In Wisconsin, it's against the law to rent rooms to unmarrieds. We are protected only if they register as "Mr. and Mrs."

Below is the State Law concerning cohabitation, which we have posted in every one of our motel rooms:

"Wisconsin Statutes Pertaining to Sexual Crimes Between Adults with Consent."

944.15 Fornication
Whoever has sexual intercourse with a person not his spouse may be fined not more than $200 or imprisoned not more than 6 months or both.

944.16 Adultery
Either of the following may be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than 3 years or both:

(1) A married person who has sexual intercourse with a person not his spouse.

(2) A person who has sexual intercourse with a person who is married to another."

MOTEL OWNER, THORP, WISC.
DEAR OWNER: Thanks for the interesting law lesson. Is that why they call Wisconsin the "Badger State?"

DEAR ABBY: I've been married a year. It is my first marriage and my husband's second. Already I think I have problems. My husband has a partner in a business venture. The partner's wife never misses a chance to give me an earful of dirt on the first wife.

I have met my husband's first wife and found her to be a very warm, sincere individual. My husband and she were incompatible after several years of marriage and mutually consented to divorce. She must surely have had some merit for my husband to have married her.

I have a better opinion of the first wife, whom I have never heard say a degrading word about anyone, than I do of this partner's wife, who belittles her own mother in front of even casual acquaintances.

How do you keep people like this out of your hair?

FED UP WITH PARTNER'S WIFE
DEAR FED: With a brush-at every opportunity.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a 36-year-old daughter to please sit up straight? Or do you think it's too late? Her posture makes me sick. She was always tall for her age and was so self-conscious about it she would go around stoop-shouldered. She looked like a hunchback.

I took her to an orthopedic doctor when she was 13 just to make sure she didn't have some kind of spinal deformity. He took X rays and said she was perfect.

It still bothers me to see such a beautiful girl slouch all the time when she could look so nice. Any advice?

TEXAS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Apparently your daughter tuned you out years ago. But if you ever succeed in getting a 36-year-old woman to listen to her mother, please let me know your secret. A few million readers would appreciate it.

Trees May Cleanse U.S. Air

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cities may one day plant groves of trees — not to beautify America but to cleanse its air.

Bruce Roberts, a plant physiologist, made that tentative prediction after three years of a one-man study of how much and which trees and woody plants filter the most pollutants from the air.

"I can't say at this point that we can appreciably clean up the air around large power plants, but we think that in an urban situation, where pollution levels are just above desirable, plants will be able to reduce that to a desirable level," Roberts said.

Roberts' research until now shows that White Birch and Red Maple trees do the best air cleansing job. In five to 10 years, he said, he hopes to be able to recommend to city planners how to landscape their parks and line city streets to reduce air pollution levels.

His research mainly concerns polluting sulfur dioxide, which is given off by burning coal. Nearly all Ohio's electrical power is produced by burning coal.

Plant leaves absorb the SO₂, then alter it chemically to form sulfates and some sulfuric acid.

The sulfates are used as nutrients by the plant and are excreted through roots to be used as food for neighboring plants, Roberts said.

Sulfuric acid, however, may be the cause of pollution damage to plants, he said. Too much sulfuric acid can impair a plant's ability to absorb pollutants, he added.

Although White Birch appears so far to absorb the most SO₂, it also is damaged more easily by the pollutant, Roberts said.

For this reason, he said he would recommend the hardier Red Maple as a compromise pollution fighter, Roberts said.

"Our ultimate objective is to find a plant that absorbs pollution and is not injured by it," Roberts said.

One offshoot of his study may be to find ways to protect plants from air pollution, he said.

Other research has indicated that alfalfa also absorbs SO₂ and that beans absorb sulfur dioxide as well as ozone, Roberts said.

"The principle of gas absorption by plants is a very old one," he said. "Man has known for hundreds of years that plants take in CO₂ (carbon dioxide) and excrete oxygen."

"What we want to do now is develop the most pollution and be the least damaged by it," he said.

Roberts said his research, funded by the Ohio Department of Agriculture, has covered only four shade trees and four woody ornamentals. In the years to come, he said he hopes to encourage more scientists to study plants and their relationships to poisonous gases. "As a one-man research team, I may

Coal To Posies

What to do with abandoned coal mines after the coal has run out has been a problem facing mining communities for generations. If the idea of a horticulturist and an agriculture engineer at the University of Kentucky works out, what might be done in some of them is cultivate asparagus and petunias.

Using abandoned mines and low-producing gas wells for growing vegetables and flowers has been an experimental project of Dale Anastasi and Dr. John Walker of the university for nearly a decade. Two years ago the Surface Mining and Reclamation Association began providing funds for the project.

The basic idea is that mines have nearly uniform temperatures, high humidity and in many cases an abundance of carbon dioxide gas, all ideal for plant growth. The natural environment reduces or eliminates the high expense of heating or cooling greenhouses.

At present the plan is to locate greenhouses on the sides of mountains, using fans to blow mine air into the buildings. They might also be fueled by gas wells no longer productive enough for commercial applications. Either way, fuel costs would be minimal.

Still unresolved is the question of transporting the products grown in rural greenhouses to market. So far no economical method has presented itself.

Popping Off On Soda Pop

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — A noted economic soothsayer recently predicted that stockholders in U.S. soft-drink companies better unload because people might stop guzzling the stuff around the time Big Brother takes over in 1984. If recycling machines break down, pop bottles and cans by that time will form a wall of litter higher and longer than the Rockies, according to the Cassandra.

The stock market being what it is — the weak-hold of the chicken-hearted — it reacted instantly. Pop plopped. Pepsi, for example, was off three points, though the cola the 75-year-old company pours in 131 countries accounts for less than half of the $2 billion worth of business it expects to do this year.

Pop's here to stay. It rates with Westerns and moon-walking as a major American contribution to the world. So I herewith proclaim and order that all pop stocks rise to a point where the millions of shareholders can afford to drink Dom Perignon at "21."

Pepsi, by the way, has assumed a role its inventor, Dr. Caleb Bradham, would find difficult to comprehend. Thanks in part to one of the super-salesmen of our times, Richard M. Nixon, it has become a cog in the Great Detente between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. The story goes back to 1959, when the then Vice President was being sent off on all sorts of errands by President Eisenhower. One of them was to represent the U.S. at the opening of the American exhibition at the Moscow trade fair of that year.

On their walk from the RCA color TV exhibit to the model U.S. kitchen where they staged their celebrated debate, Vice President Nixon and Premier Khrushchev paused at the Pepsi exhibition. Donald Kendall, now chairman and chief executive officer at PepsiCo, whose diversification is now mind-boggling, whispered to Nixon to invite Khrushchev to have a drink of the product. It was the first pop the man who threatened to bury us economically had ever tasted. The photographers duly recorded the historic event. A minor face in the picture was that of an obscure spear carrier in the Soviet hierarchy, Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Lap dissolve, and fade to a caption: "Fifteen Years Later." It is June 4, 1974, in Novorossiysk. And now here's Murray Fromson, on the CBS Morning News.

"The President might be considered the godfather of the Pepsi deal. Here's Donald Kendall watching the first Pepsi's being produced at the company's Soviet bottling plant. No one knows what kind of impact this kind of thing is going to have on the Russians. They've never before been exposed to an American soft drink, but curiosity is certainly bringing the folks out along the Black Sea coast, despite the fact that Pepsi costs twice as much as any Russian soft drink."

"The novelty's probably the result of a couple of things. Though bottled and canned in Russia, everyone knows it's American. The labeling is unusually attractive in a country where everything that's packaged almost looks the same, and the cola taste is unique to Russians."

"Pepsi may cause a run on ice cubes in this country. Russians drink their soft beverages or beer at room temperature because of a refrigerator shortage, but the advertising pitch for Pepsi is 'drink it chilled.' Remarkably, it's the first American product ever advertised over the counter in the Soviet Union, a real concession to the capitalist way of doing things. Some of the ads are as deadly serious as the Communist Manifesto. 'The composition of this beverage,' reads one, 'includes cola nuts, lemon juice, and aromatic oils from the exotic south and Oriental countries.' Another flatly states, 'it's good for your digestive tract, and tasteful.'"

"...The Kremlin has something else in mind. It is desperate to lick the alcoholic problem in this country, and it hopes that by introducing this soda pop it can cause people to forget vodka. Not very likely. Already Russians are talking about how well the two go together."

Now PepsiCo with Pentagon-like headquarters in Purchase, N.Y., imports Russia's only vodka, Stolichnaya, and the Russia champagne labeled Nazdorovya ("to your health"). The champagne deal was made between Kendall and Yuri Zhisbin, who is president of a Soviet food and agricultural trade organization with a name that sounds like a drunk falling down a long flight of tin stairs, Sojuzplodoimport. PepsiCo imports a lot of other nations' wines, makes blizzards of corn and potato chips, and owns Wilson Sporting goods, and supersaleswoman, Joan Crawford.

Pepsi doesn't have Coca Cola to contend with in the Soviet Union. It has a lock on the cola trade in the U.S.S.R., just as Nixon, while representing Pepsi during the middle 1960s, got an exclusive in Iran through his friend the Shah. Pepsi's heavy rival in Russia is, well, heavy. It is called kvas, made from dry bread and lukewarm water, fermented, flavored with honey and horse radish. The kvas generation! It's got to go!

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Aug. 22, the 234th day of 1974. There are 131 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, during World War II, Nazi troops reached the outskirts of the Russian city of Leningrad.

On this date:

In 1654, the man who has gone down in history as the first Jewish emigrant to America, Jacob Barsimson, landed at New Amsterdam.

In 1762, the first American woman newspaper editor, Ann Franklin, went to work at the Newport Mercury in Rhode Island.

In 1776, during the Revolutionary War, British Gen. William Howe landed 10,000 soldiers on New York's Long Island.

In 1846, the annexation of New Mexico as U.S. territory was announced at Santa Fe.

In 1910, Japan annexed Korea.

In 1956, a Republican national convention in San Francisco renominated President Dwight Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon for second terms.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Cleo hit the southern Caribbean, killing 138 persons in Haiti and Guadeloupe.

Five years ago, President Nixon reaffirmed the U.S. pledge to meet any attack against South Korea.

One year ago, President Nixon accepted blame for the Watergate scandal. He also announced the resignation of William Rogers as Secretary of State and the nomination of Henry Kissinger for the job.

Today's birthdays: Baseball's Carl Yastrzemski is 35 years old. French fashion designer Marc Bohan is 48.

Thought for today: The machinery of government would not work if it were not allowed a little play in its joints. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, 1841-1935.

Ohio Senators Cast Opposing Ballots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's two U.S. senators cast opposite votes Tuesday as a move to invoke cloture on the Agency for Consumer Advocacy Bill failed to gain the required two-thirds majority. The vote was 59-35 in favor.

Democrat Howard Metzenbaum voted for cloture while Republican Robert Taft Jr. opposed it.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Fourth floor, Patent Office!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What can we do to alleviate a tic of the eyes and face our 8-year-old boy has acquired?

Mrs. J. C., Ark.

Dear Mrs. C.:

Muscular tics that involve the eyes or the muscles of the face are common. Hawking noises and clearing of the throat are modifications that can be considered tics.

It is rare to find a physical cause for the twitching, so distressing to observers. Nevertheless, the possibility should be investigated before the tics are considered entirely of emotional origin.

For example, allergies may be responsible for movements of the nose or rapid closing of the eyes, as a means of avoiding the irritation of a foreign substance. Some neurological disturbances are associated with a variety of tics.

If, after all physical examinations fail to produce a basic reason for the tic, then credence should be given for the possibility of an underlying emotional factor.

Too much parental pressure, fatigue, excessive demands at school are but a few of the reasons why habit tics occur.

Sometimes, simple psychological studies can readily reveal a basis for a child's anxiety and, with simple guidance, the habit tic will stop.

It is obvious that the one thing that must be avoided is to embarrass or shame the child suffering with tics. Under such pressure, tics may seem to disappear, but the underlying problem persists and emotional conflicts may come out in other ways — in ways that are less recognizable.

More can be accomplished by not calling attention to the tics, but by giving the child reason to feel more relaxed and secure. Try it.

Can vitamins alone sustain the body on a very strict reducing diet?

Miss R. R., Vt.

Dear Miss R.:

Vitamins represent only a small part of the nutritional requirements of the body. They most definitely cannot substitute for the nutrition that can be obtained in well-balanced meals.

I often wonder when those interested in diets will learn the simple fact that calories and calories only determine weight loss. In the absence of any organic disease, the firm rule is that when you consume more calories than your body requires for fuel you will gain weight.

Move Here

At Your Own Risk

MENTOR, Ohio (AP) — Families living in the 8700 block of Arrowood Drive in this suburban city feel there may be something special about their location: five of the six have had twins.

Latest parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fay, whose home the past three years has been in the middle of the group. "They told me not to move in" or to expect to have twins, she said. Their two boys were born in mid-May.

Instructors at Lakeland Community College in nearby Kirtland figure the probability that five of six mothers would have twins is about one in 550 million.

Air Pollution Alerts Issued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Air pollution alerts were in effect for the Dayton and Steubenville areas today, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said.

The alert in Dayton was issued Tuesday because of high ozone readings resulting from car emissions reacting with sunlight.

Four counties in the Steubenville area — Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont and Monroe — were under an air stagnation advisory and alert after particulate readings from industrial pollution peaked above the alert stage today.

General Motors Slates Price Cut

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced today that in response to a request by President Ford it will partially roll back a planned price increase for 1975 cars.

GM said it would reduce the scheduled increase by an average $54 from the previously announced figure.

The auto maker's action had been predicted by the Detroit Free Press in a dispatch from its Washington bureau.

MRS. JOHN SABINE, PHONE 983-2086

The Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will be sponsoring a card party in the high school cafeteria on Saturday, Aug. 24, at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hudson wish to thank their many friends for all of the gifts, flowers, cards, and prayers which helped to make their 50th wedding anniversary a most memorable day.

Robbie Brown, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brown, is a patient in Children's Hospital, Columbus. Robbie suffered a broken nose, severe facial lacerations and head injuries when a trash container fell on him.

Maxine Younkin recently enjoyed a week's vacation. She traveled to Harlingen, Texas, with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shumate of Mt. Sterling, for the marriage of her nephew, Stephen Bowers, to Pamela Osborne of Harlingen.

They toured the Astrodome in Houston and shopped in Mexico. Maxine flew home on Sunday with a stopover at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. She was met there by her nephew, Martin Younkin of Dallas, and enjoyed visiting with him for a while prior to her flight home.

The August 13 meeting of the Church of Christ in Christian Union Helping Hands was held at the home of Bernice Hicks. The meeting opened by all singing "Standing on the Promises," "I Must Tell Jesus," "My Redeemer," and "The Old Rugged Cross." Scripture reading, the 8th Chapter of Psalm, was read by Sandy Timmons. Prayer was led by Nellie Clark.

Estimated number of cards sent for the month was 70. Seven new names were remitted.

Games were played and won by Betty Runkle, Clesta Hower, Edna Myers, and Betty Havens.

Those members present were Bobbie Foreman, Betty Runkle, Sandy Timmons, Ruthie Aldenderfer, Edny Myers, Clesta Hower, Marvene Devors, Betty Jane Havens, Bernice Hicks, and Nellie Clark.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Marvene Devors. Hope to see everyone there.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard W. Mahaffey and daughter Susan of Madison, Wis., are visiting this week with his mother, Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey.

Members of the class of 1949 of Walnut Township High School were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Cormany (Dorothy Ett), 145 Maple St., Ashville, to celebrate their 25th anniversary as a graduating class.

Those attending the carry-in dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pontius and son Tom of Route 1, Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Sherman and daughters Sue and Nancy all of Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Curry and Mrs. A. J. Swain (Jeneve Dresbach) and daughter Marquell and friend Margaret, all of Columbus, Mrs. Dudley Fisher (Virginia Barnett) of Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Griffith and Debbie and Ralph, Jr. of Lancaster.

Other guests were Miss Nelle Oesterle of Ashville and Allen Ett of Route 2, Ashville.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rogers on August 9 was Miss Judy Gerkin of Napoleon, Ohio. She was a former teacher at Teays Valley High School and is now teaching with the D.O.D. Schools overseas. This year she will be teaching in Germany. Miss Gerkin was the chemistry teacher of Mrs. Rogers (Jo Ann Reese) six years ago at Teays Valley.

Gina Carl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carl of South Bloomfield, participated in the Ohio Youth Talent Contest in Zanesville this past weekend. There were approximately 1,000 youth in the contest from Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

Gina, Marilyn Justice and Brenda David both of Circleville presented a dance number and received a third place. Gina also received excellent and superior ribbons a medal and a trophy with their jazz dance number. The girls are students of Cynthia of Circleville who sponsored them in the contest.

The annual Chicken Bar-B-Q will be held at the Hedges Chapel Church on Thursday, Aug. 29. Serving times will be 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. For reservations call 983-3559, 474-4294, or 969-2245.

The weekly meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club was conducted by vice-president Gene Tosca. Visitors at the meeting were interclubs from the Lancaster and Columbus Eastern Kiwanis Clubs and Harold Clifton of the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Steve Cook introduced Ray Lindsey who presented a very interesting program on coin collecting. Ray described several of the sets of coins that he had brought with him. Several of the coins had interesting histories which Ray told the audience.

The program for August 20th has been arranged by Don Collins. Mrs. William Wolfe of Xenia will describe her experience in the tornado.

The meeting of August 27th will be a Family Night to see the outdoor drama, Tecumseh.

Friday luncheon guests of Miss Doris Cook were Mrs. Alice Sessenbrenner of Circleville, her daughter, Mrs. David Turner and children of Orange Park, Florida.

Afternoon and evening callers of Miss Cook were Mr. and Mrs. James Fry of Orange City, Florida.

Food Price Index Rises

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — The rising costs of cereals and bakery products boosted the Cincinnati food price index by 14 per cent and the Cleveland index by 12.1 per cent in July as compared to a year earlier.

Those items rose 40.2 per cent in the Cincinnati area over one year and 38.6 per cent in Cleveland from July 1973 to July 1974, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

In Cincinnati, shoppers paid $11.40 this July for the same food items costing $10 a year earlier. Cleveland consumers spent $11.21 for a marketbasket bought at $10 in July 1973.

Sugar, sweets, prepared and partially prepared foods increased 3.2 per cent over a month in the Cincinnati area for the highest group increase. Meat, poultry, fish and dairy prices dropped in the Cleveland area resulting in a lesser increase in the price index.

Rocky Confirmation Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overwhelming praise except from some longstanding Republican foes virtually guarantees Nelson A. Rockefeller's confirmation by Congress as vice president.

How soon? Chairman of both House and Senate confirmation committees declined Tuesday to set any target date and House Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., did not rule out confirmation after the November elections.

"I'm not going to set any timetable except whatever timetable is necessary for thorough and responsible consideration," Rodino said.

Rodino and Senate Rules Committee Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., set confirmation machinery, including requests for a full FBI investigation, in motion immediately after President Ford named Rockefeller his nominee.

Both chairmen said a major question is how long it will take to investigate Rockefeller's multimillion dollar financial holdings to see whether there are any conflicts of interest.

Rockefeller flew into Washington in his own plane Tuesday morning to accept the nomination, held his first news conference, paid courtesy calls on some congressmen and then flew out to continue a vacation in Maine.

Before he left he told newsmen he believes President Ford "has every intention" of seeking election in 1976 to a full term.

"That was my impression, that's what I urged, that's my assumption," Rockefeller said.

In another session with reporters

Rockefeller said he did not talk to Ford about the President's 1976 plans. A White House spokesman later said there was no discrepancy in Rockefeller's statements since Rockefeller spoke with Ford on two different occasions.

Rockefeller said it would be presumptuous of him to talk about his own hopes for 1976 before Congress confirms him.

Ford, whose selection of Rockefeller was a well-kept secret, called the vice president-designate "a good partner for me . . . for our country and the world."

Rockefeller's nomination drew wide-ranging praise from congressmen including Black Caucus Chairman Charles W. Rangel, D-N.Y. But it drew disappointment from conservative Republicans including Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona.

Rockefeller refused to support Goldwater's 1964 GOP presidential candidacy and Goldwater said Rockefeller's nomination "is not going to set well with the conservatives in the Republican Party."

Contract Proposal Voted On By Union

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A contract proposal was to be voted on today by 375 striking employees of the Allied Chemical Corp. Ratification would end a walkout that began Tuesday.

Joe Sites, president of Local 3552, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, said union negotiators had recommended the membership accept the offer.

Details were not disclosed.

CLEAN UP DETAIL—Shown cleaning up after a noon meal are members of a patrol attending the Girl Scout Day Camp held at Camp Miska this summer.

Logan Trails Scouts Report Summer Work

Logan Trails Girl Scouts found the summer months full of activities. Day Camp, held for eight days in June at Camp Miska, was attended by 105 campers participating in the many faceted program including a day spent with the Senior Citizens.

Scouts helped the Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter by giving swimming lessons at the Circleville Swimming Pool. Cadettes worked with the Pickaway County Library by riding on the Bookmobile and reading stories at the stops along the way. One cadette troop camped at Pike Lake and a Senior Troop spent a day at Kings Island.

In July, many of the troops boarded a bus for Girl Scout Day at the Columbus Zoo. One Cadette Scout went on a tour of Europe and two Senior Scouts went backpacking on the Appalachian Trail.

During the Pickaway County Fair the scouts had exhibits. The cadettes gave demonstrations twice a day for three days, showing the training in first aid they had learned at the Emergency Preparedness Challenge.

The troops are now preparing for another active year of scouting in Circleville.

Logan Elm High School Class Of 1964 Reunited

The 1964 graduating class of Logan Elm High School held its tenth year reunion at A W Marion state park on Sunday. The carry-in picnic lunch was enjoyed by 17 class members and their families. Following the meal, a short business meeting was held and class members spent much of the afternoon renewing old friendships.

Class members in attendance were: Marian Stiles Allen, Kenny Arnold,

Dorcas Class Meets In Kennedy Home

Dorcas Sunday School Class of Calvary United Methodist Church held its August meeting recently at the home of Louise Kennedy, Dunkle Road.

Following a carry-in noon luncheon, devotions in charge of Florence Wise using the theme, "When You Have The Blues" were read. General discussion was held.

Plans were made for the Sept. 4th meeting to be held at Ted Lewis Park. There will be no other meetings until December.

Winner of the door prize for the day was Louise Kennedy.

Legion Auxiliary To Meet Monday

Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting 8 p.m. Monday in the Post Home.

Following the business session there will be a white elephant sale and salad smorgasbord furnished by members. Each is urged to bring a guest.

Barnes Family Schedules Reunion

The Barnes family has planned a reunion for Sunday in the social hall of Hallsville United Methodist Church. A basket dinner will be served at noon.

Couple Renews Wedding Vows

The United Pentecostal Church of Circleville was the setting for renewal of wedding vows by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilkinson, Route 4. The Rev. E. Glen James performed the ceremony assisted by the Rev. David Ferrell. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blankenship.

Mrs. E. Glen James accompanied herself at the organ while she sang "Whither Thou Goest" preceding the ceremony. A verse she composed especially for the couple was read.

The former Miss Charlotte Hughey was attired in a formal length pale blue chiffon gown in the princess style trimmed in lace daisies. She carried a single long stemmed red carnation.

A reception in the church social rooms followed the repeating of vows. The couple has been married for 10 years and there are two children, Todd Allen and Misty Jo.

Illinois Man Wins Plowing Competition

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—James R. Nolan of Odell, Ill., captured the national plowing championship Wednesday for the second year in a row.

He will represent the United States in the World Plowing Championships at Montreal, Canada, next year. As 1973 champion, he will compete in this year's world event in Finland next month.

Two other contestants from Odell, Ill., Colleen Wolf and Earl Muir, finished second and third, respectively, in the large plow division of the national contest.

Linn Conway of Bradford, Ohio, finished fourth and Vernon Weele of Melrose, Minn., fifth.

Roger Meat of Van Wert captured the small plow division championship. David Kruckeberg of Greenville, Ohio, was second, followed by Ray Willhaite of Wall Lake, Iowa; Robert Miller of Millersburg, Pa., and Duane Bergeman of Garden City, Minn.

Meat also earned a berth in the world championships at Montreal, and he and Nolan shared the sportsmanship awards.

suits against former state officials stemming from the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

U.S. District Court Judge Don J. Young of Toledo said the spring date was set to give lawyers for all parties time to prepare.

Young agreed to combine 12 suits brought by students and parents of students fired on by Ohio National Guardsmen during an antiwar demonstration on the campus.

Among the defendants are former Gov. James A. Rhodes, former Kent State President Robert I. White, former Ohio Adjutant General Sylvester Del Corso, former Assistant Adjutant General Robert Canterbury and individual officers and enlisted members of the guard.

None of the defendants are among nine former guardsmen indicted by a federal grand jury here last March. Their criminal trial is scheduled to begin Oct. 15.

The first of the civil suits was filed in 1970 but was dismissed by a federal judge on grounds federal courts do not have jurisdiction in suits against states.

The ruling was upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which added that the doctrine of sovereign immunity appeared to shield state officials from suits arising from the consequences of their official acts.

But last April the U.S. Supreme Court ordered the district court to proceed with the cases by summary judgement, meaning the cases would be tried through motions, or with trials.

Young said application of sovereign immunity might be decided defendant by defendant.

Woman Conducts Blind Singer Chorus

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — No course she ever took for her master's degree in teaching music ever prepared Jeanne Ezelle Simons of North College Hill to conduct a chorus of blind singers.

Mrs. Simons will begin her 10th year this fall with the "Clovernates" — a well-known Cincinnati entertainment unit. All of the "Notes," as Mrs. Simons called them, are blind women ranging in age from late teens to over 60.

The Clovernates of the Cloverbrook Home for the Blind at North College Hill began in the summer of 1965, as a "sing-along" activity within Cloverbrook's recreational program.

Mrs. Simons said the group branched out to three and four part arrangements of songs. No one taught her how to deal with the blind in an activity as visual as singing together.

"We just had to work it out as we went along," she said.

The Clovernates' rehearsal room is unique—Mrs. Simons sits at an upright piano with her back to the dozen or so singers. A large slanted mirror on top of the piano helps her to follow the dozen or so members of the group.

Other special additions to the room are card tables in front of each singer with the words to each song in Braille and a cassette recorder, "a godsend," the director said.

Mrs. Simons said she sings each part through and the girls record their own parts on the cassettes. Then they practice at home.

Facial expression was one of the tougher stumbling blocks. Mrs. Simons said, "Blind persons cannot know the value of using facial expressions as we do.

"If I want them to look like they are happy and having fun, I say something funny and get them laughing. Then I say that's the expression I want. They never let me down."

Going to a performance is a production in itself. Volunteers drive the "Notes" and help them walk unfamiliar places. The helpers take care of hats, coats and even Seeing Eye dogs while the chorus is on stage.

"As we perform around town and are seen by more people, I feel we have a great opportunity to change the preconceived idea that a blind person is different," Mrs. Simons said. "The last thing they want is pity."

Nixon Ponders His Financial Options

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon may sell his Florida houses and could renegotiate the mortgage on his San Clemente estate to ease personal budget problems confronting him as a private citizen. And big money may lie ahead if he contracts to write a book.

Those financial options for the former President were outlined by Nixon associates, although there is no firm word on what he will do. One adviser said he expected no quick decision on future financial arrangements.

Nixon's resignation made more immediate the money problem that began four months ago with Internal Revenue Service findings that he owed nearly $500,000 in back income taxes, penalties and interest.

While the documents of his presidency are potentially worth millions, Nixon's problem is ready cash. "I've got to find a way to pay my taxes," Nixon said in his White House farewell Aug. 9.

His income dropped sharply, from presidential salary to pension, with his resignation in the face of virtually certain impeachment over Watergate.

Since retreating to his oceanfront residence here, Nixon and his aides have said nothing publicly about finances.

Soon there will be new expenses.

Now without public funds to pay his legal fees, Nixon presumably will need private attorneys to advise him on a pending Watergate trial subpoena and perhaps other Watergate matters.

Nixon's present financial situation is this:

—His cash savings were virtually wiped out by a payment of $284,706 for back taxes and penalties from 1970-72, plus interest.

—He has promised to pay an additional $148,081 for 1969 back taxes, although the statute of limitations for civil collection of that sum has expired.

—He was to pay $243,000 in principal and interest July 15 as the final payment on his San Clemente property. But he received a six-month extension on that debt in return for agreeing to pay higher interest.

—His principal assets at this point are his equity in the San Clemente property and two houses at Key Biscayne, Fla. He owns no corporate stocks or bonds.

—His income, instead of $250,000 as president, is now $62,950 in presidential pension, plus about $18,000 for other past government service ranging from World War II military duty to vice president. For his first six months out of office, he's also entitled to $450,000 in transition office expenses, then will get $96,000 a year for aides' salaries, plus other benefits such as office space.

The simplest quick step Nixon could take to raise significant money probably would be the sale of his two houses in Key Biscayne, Fla., which could net him $150,000 or more.

Within six months, he'll also have to revamp his mortgage arrangements for the San Clemente property. He could simply extend payments on the amount now due or he could raise immediate cash by negotiating a new and larger mortgage.

The former President also could make a financial comeback by writing a book or selling his papers and tapes.

The papers and tapes are potentially worth millions of dollars. President Ford's lawyers have said the tapes and documents will remain in the White House until Watergate legal issues are resolved.

Ultimately, the materials are expected to go to Nixon, but there has been no indication he will sell them. He has said previously that the materials would be placed in a Nixon presidential library.

No one has said Nixon intends to write a book. After his vice presidency, he authored a commercially successful volume entitled "Six Crises."

Experts in the publishing industry say that paying Nixon a big advance for a book would be highly speculative. They say that it is impossible to tell now what the public interest in a Nixon book would be in 1½ to 2 years — the minimum time they figure would elapse before a book could be in bookstores.

Another major question, they agree, is what would Nixon say?

Pension Reform Bill Passage Certain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early enactment seems assured for a bill designed to protect workers' pension rights.

The House passed the compromise measure Tuesday with only two dissenting votes.

In the Senate, where a vote is scheduled for late today, one of the sponsors, Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said he knows of no opposition. Republicans predicted that President Ford will sign the measure promptly.

The bill would assure workers they will get benefits based on credits they have built up during their employment, even if they leave their employers before normal retirement time. It contains safeguards against pension plans lacking the funds to pay off.

The bill approved by the House 407 to 2 also provides enhanced tax breaks for more affluent self-employed persons, such as doctors and lawyers, who set up their own retirement plans.

For the first time employees not covered by company plans would be allowed to set up tax-favored pension plans of their own. The bill would not require companies to establish pension plans, but would regulate those in existence and any set up in the future.

While some critics continued to term it inadequate, sponsors hailed the bill as a landmark achievement in protecting workers' rights.

A key provision relates to vesting, the right of an employee who has participated in a plan for a given number of years to take his right to future benefits with him if he quits early or changes jobs.

Employers would have options: Full vesting after 10 years, 25 per cent vesting after 10 years increasing to 100 per cent after 15, or 50 per cent when age and years of service total 45 with the remaining half vesting in the next five years.

The bill also sets down rules as to employer contributions, intended to see that pension funds are adequate to meet their obligations. It sets up an insurance system, somewhat similar to the government insurance on bank deposits, to protect against total loss of pensions if companies or funds go broke.

Other provisions permit, on a voluntary basis, transfer of pension rights from one employer to another when an employee changes jobs, or give him the option of using his credits in a personal retirement plan.

For self-employed persons who now may deduct 10 per cent of their earnings from taxable income up to $2,500 a year, if they invest the sums in a personal retirement plan, the limits would be raised to 15 per cent and $7,500 a year. Employees without company plans could invest up to $1,500 a year in personal retirement.

Lawyer Home From Watergate Defense Team

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Columbus lawyer will become the third member of the former 13-lawyer White House Watergate defense team to return to private practice, a White House spokesman said Tuesday.

John J. Chester will return to his former law firm in Columbus Aug. 30, a decision he had made even before Richard Nixon resigned as President, the spokesman said.

Chester was part of the defense staff chief defense lawyer James St. Clair put together after he was named special counsel to Nixon last January.

The spokesman said the rest of the group is expected to complete their work soon and many will return to their former jobs.

Saxbe Opens War On Pro Criminals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with rising crime rates, Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says the Justice Department is launching a campaign against career criminals "who are terrorizing our communities."

The department plans a national effort to identify repeat offenders and insure that they are prosecuted more rapidly than other defendants, Saxbe said in an interview Wednesday.

In addition, the department has quietly summoned big-city police chiefs to a conference in Chicago next week to examine why crime rates are

Mrs. Black Ambassador To Ghana

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Shirley Temple Black's career, which began on "The Good Ship Lollipop," now takes a diplomatic turn with her nomination by President Ford as ambassador to Ghana.

Conscious of protocol, Mrs. Black responded to Wednesday's White House announcement with the comment that she was "deeply honored." But she would say little more about it until the Senate nomination hearing.

"If confirmed by the Senate, I will move to Ghana with my family," she said by telephone from her Woodside, Calif., home. "We will maintain our residence in California and will return here after the assignment is over."

The family consists of husband Charles Black; Susan, 26, Mrs. Black's daughter by her first marriage to actor John Agar; Charles, Jr., 22, and Lori, 20, both university students. Black is president of Mardela International Co., a marine resources development firm.

"The company does a lot of work in the Middle East, Yugoslavia and Central America, and his associates are based in New Zealand, Hawaii, Missouri and here in Burlingame near our home," Mrs. Black said. "Charlie travels a great deal, so he might as well be based in Ghana as here."

Now 46, Shirley Temple Black has been in the limelight for 40 years, achieving international fame as the most successful child star in Hollywood history.

Bike Law Confusing

RICHWOOD, Ohio (AP) — When downtown pedestrians here complained of hazardous bicycle riders, city officials enforced a "revised bicycle ordinance" which they said has bicyclists "totally confused."

"The law will really benefit all the people, Police Chief William Marvis said. "After residents become accustomed to it, they will see the safety reasoning behind it."

He expected however, that it will take time to educate bike riders, especially youths, on the exact meaning of the law.

As the new ordinance stands, cyclists are prohibited from riding or parking bicycles in a one-block area of the business district. The police chief said persons are allowed to ride the two wheelers in the street, but not on sidewalks in this one-block area.

Many bicycle riders, however, are interpreting the law as one which forbids bicycles in the downtown area altogether.

Marvis said the law went into effect Aug. 12, and so far there have been no arrest.

Hearing Set In Ray Case

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A hearing will begin Oct. 22 to determine whether James Earl Ray is entitled to a new trial in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

U.S. District Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. scheduled the evidentiary hearing after a conference Wednesday with attorneys for Ray and the state.

McRae said Ray will be heavily guarded when he is brought from the state prison in Nashville for the evidentiary hearing. The judge set aside two weeks for the hearing.

The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the hearing into Ray's claim that he was coerced into pleading guilty in 1969 and was inadequately represented by counsel. Ray is serving a 99-year sentence in the slaying of the civil rights leader.

FOOFBEE

A new word to add to your vocabulary and a new fun thing to add to your enjoyment of life is FOOF-BEE! For the first time ever in Pickaway County and surrounding areas the Foofbee will be introduced at the upcoming Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival which will be held Wednesday, September 11 thru Saturday, September 14. SO! come one, come all to the Festival and get your Foofbee. It is guaranteed to become the rage of the day (so say the promoters and hopefully hope the festival committee). Absolutely no one should be without a Foofbee. Pending plans for the festival just might include a Foofbee contest.

Keep your eyes on the tube (TV) come Monday morning and the Paul Dixon Show and wave to Onda (Mrs. Steve) Fullen and her two, Tami and Jeff. We are trying to persuade Jeff to wear his Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival Pre-Teen King sash and crown that he won during last year's festivities. A plug or two on the program wouldn't bother us at all.

Onda and Tami were among the well-wishers who recently attended close friend Sandy (Mrs. Gary) Wisecup's graduation from LPN school. How very proud we all are that our Sandy is now a full fledged LPN and she will be a good one, too. Berger Hospital has definitely added an asset to their staff. Sandy and her two images Tracey and Brian along with other friends are vacationing as of the moment down Florida way.

All his many, many friends are pleased that Tommy Carter is coming along fairly well from his recent heart attack and he is being encouraged by one and all to adhere strictly to the list of do's and don'ts as prescribed by his doctor upon his release from Berger Hospital so that soon he will be fully recovered. Happy to have Tommy back home is his helpmate of long standing, gracious and lovely Mae, who herself has only come home from the hospital just a short time ago. Mae was a surgical patient at Riverside Hospital and is on the recuperating side of it all now. During Tommy's hospitalization Mae stayed with their son Byron and his wife Ethel and their Charee and Lisa at Circleville. We want both to tend to the p's and q's and stay away from the no, no's so that ever so soon good health will be theirs.

The epitome of grandmotherhood, Mrs. Omer (Della) Lemming was thrilled to have her granddaughter Maribell Lemming Martin and her husband Jerry and their three, Ronnie, Laura and Jeffrey visit with her on Tuesday. The Martins are here from their Wilmington, Delaware home and are with Maribell's mother Mrs. Dorothy Lemming of Groveport. She, too, visited here Tuesday and so did Dean and Wilby Lemming Parker of Columbus (she is our Mrs. L's daughter).

Houseguest of Postmaster Gene and Dorothy Bush is her sister Mrs. Irene Sorenson who jetted in from Long Island Sound, New York and will be here until the end of this week.

Ray Frazier, son of Arthur Frazier, visited with dad a week ago Sunday. Ray was accompanying his daughter Susan back here to her Circleville home after she had spent some time with him at his Angola, Indiana abode. Joining Ray and Susan at dad's house were Ray and Helen Shoemaker, former hoosiers but now Round-towners residents.

Tractor pulling enthusiasts Clark and Debbie McFarland, Jim and Nancy Steele, Carlos Bowen and Ken Gregory are back in the daily routine after an exciting time attending the National Tractor Pulling at Bowling Green. They were a part of the "crew and fans" of the Writsel Brothers Pulling Team. Young Trisha Steele remained at home under the care of Jerry and Linda Moore and youngsters while little Toni McFarland was with grandparents Don and Ruth Schleich and aunts Cindy, Laura and Kathy. Five year old Master C.K. McFarland IV kept the "joint jivin'" at Uncle Wayne and Aunt Janet Wright's. Grandpa McFarland had recently treated C.K. to an evening of baseball at the Cincinnati Reds stadium but it could be a matter of deep discussion as to who treated who to what! C.K. did not miss a thing—no way.

Another local family very much involved in the art of tractor pulling, Linden and Sue Gibson and stalwart sons H.L. and Matt were at Bowling Green Thursday through Monday doing "their thing". Linden walked away with mighty high honors at the Nationals a year or so ago but alas, none of our Pickaway Countians made it this time around. They will the next time. Young Lance Gibson kept great-grandmother Marie Gibson company while the other members of his family were away.

Westfall Round-Up

Margene (Mrs. Harvey) Looney, general chairman of the forthcoming Westfall Round-Up to be held Labor Day, September 2 announces that plans are firm and activities will begin at 5 p.m. with the opening of the food booth for the serving of delectable, delightful fish sandwiches as prepared by an experienced fish frying crew. Also for sale will be hot dogs, soft drinks and other assorted snacks. The program will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the intro of the reserve cheerleaders. Following this will be Coach John Glanton and his mighty Mustang football squad, the varsity cheerleaders, band preview under directorship of Jim Kibby and last but in no way least will be the Ms. Mustang Contest. This contest has proved to be the most laugh provoking of them all with contestants having as much fun as the spectators. It is always a real cliff-hanger as to which contestant will be chosen number one or better known as Ms. Mustang. Any member of the male sex is eligible to vie for the top prize (second and third are also given). In the past we have had bathing "beauties", strippers, hula dancers, formal attire, actually you name it and I would dare say it has appeared in the Ms. Mustang contest. All this for fifty cents a carload admission. By the way, RAIN OR SHINE, the event will be held. In case of rain the cafeteria and auditorium will be the scene.

Speaking of rain, what a downpour Friday night just shortly before the Monroe Men's Club Gospel Sing got underway. However, the men were prepared in case the weather was not co-operative and instead of an outdoor show as hoped for there was a jam packed auditorium—wall to wall people and that is no exaggeration—thoroughly enjoying every minute of the whole evening. When the Men's Club chose the gospel groups they really have that old "moxie" of picking the right combination and so it was again last Friday night. WOW! what tremendous voices those fellows all had. Just marvelous. Obviously the word travels about what a really great show the Men's Club always have because the crowds get larger and larger and may it continue as such for them. Bob See, who has Williamsport roots, does a neat job as M.C. and many other club members give their all for a successful show. One of the hardest working has to be Gil Conley who devotes much of his time garnering as much publicity as is possible and which is so necessary. With all the fine community projects supported by the Men's Club it is a blessing to see their efforts so well rewarded. May their shows continue to be an outstanding success.

I try hard to keep calm and serene and practical about today's living but when a much needed undergarment jumps thirty cents in price in two weeks time, then I blow my cool. Shopping for school clothes used to be something of a pleasure but such is no longer the case. Egads! I could hardly believe my eyeballs were registering right when I went to purchase a certain item the other day to complete Amy's back to school needs and there was a thirty cent increase since I had made the same purchase two weeks ago. Shades of the poorhouse this is getting to be too much.

Journeying down to the Paul Dixon Show at Cincinnati one day last week were Janet (Mrs. Jack) Lutz and her Lori and Marty of our town and Mrs. Loretta Seyfang of New Holland and Circleville (business at one, home at the latter). Lori and Marty both won handsome prizes during the show of which they are rightfully proud. The Lutz-Seyfang bowling team is the one that tied with the Thompson, Easterday, Hayes and Manson team during summer league and a "bowl-off" for first place was necessary. The Lutz team had more stamina and whopped the daylight out of us so my group ended up with second place trophies and money. We held first place all through the summer league until the very last day—how "revoltin' ". Circle D is gearing itself now for the winter league onslaught and is having beautiful black and white shag carpet put on the walls—hey, Larry betcha wonder how I know, huh, huh, huh? Sees all, knows all, tells all. Right on.

Papa Bill returned home in the wee, wee hours of Saturday morning from a fairly successful fishing trip to Lake Erie and we have really enjoyed the catch. He went with his brother Paul Easterday and good friend Forrest Cutright both of Chillicothe and a brother-in-law Roger Minor from Kingston. There is just no comparison to the fresh caught and the store bought, you know.

Helping us devour a heaping plateful on Sunday evening were my sister and brother-in-law, Norma and John Gillfillan of near Piqua.

In the get well wishes column this week we have two ladies we very much would like for each reader to send a card to right away. Mrs. Lula Stevens Room 643, University Hospital, Columbus (she is Esta Debo's mother which makes her Principal Robert Debo's mother-in-law. She has been critically ill and is somewhat improved at this writing. A nicer, sweeter lady I have never known so please deluge her with cards).

Another very sick gal is Mrs. Helen Porter, Room 407, Doctors West Hospital, Columbus, Ohio. She is a sister of Sue Graffis. Her young son Jimmy Porter is staying with his Aunt Sue and Uncle John while mother is hospitalized.

As per usual I am pressed for time and not making deadlines as I should but if by chance this gets to press before Friday at 2 p.m. I want to let each one know that the WNRE Williamsport program normally broadcast the second and fourth Thursday will be heard on Friday this week at the usual hour of 2 p.m. until 3 p.m. Hope you can tune in and be with us.

Be with you again next week, be the Lord willing. Take care. Think About: If you growl all day, it's only natural that you feel dog tired at night.

Coal Miners Set Harlan Rally

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — Busloads of coal miners began arriving in this Southeastern Kentucky coal town today for a parade and rally that Harlan residents say is the biggest thing ever to happen here.

"The largest crowds we ever have around here are for the Christmas parade and for football games," said a reporter for the Harlan Daily Enterprise.

United Mine Workers officials said 72 busloads of UMW miners were expected for the rally, a focal point of the nationwide five-day memorial work stoppage called by the union.

UMW President Arnold Miller said the coal shutdown would commemorate deaths and call attention to safety problems in the nation's mines.

Miller and other top UMW officials were scheduled to speak here at today's rally at Cawood High School.

The coal industry has charged that the union is calling the memorial period to reduce already low stockpiles of coal, in a move calculated to give the union leverage at the bargaining table.

Negotiations on a new contract are about to begin, with the present national contract expiring Nov. 12.

Bernie Aronson, assistant to Miller, said Wednesday such charges were made because "coal operators don't give a damn about protecting coal miners, they find it hard to believe anyone takes mine safety seriously."

Aronson would say only that the memorial period relates to negotiations for a new contract in that "safety is going to be a major issue in upcoming bargaining talks."

The UMW is locked in a 13-month-old strike against Duke Power Co.'s coal mines in Harlan County, operated by a subsidiary, Eastover Mining Co.

The union has avoided linking the memorial period to the organizing drive in Eastern Kentucky for fear of giving the appearance of an illegal secondary boycott.

But Miller did say in announcing the shutdown that it would focus attention on the "acts of terrorism against Brookside miners in Harlan County."

The miners at Eastover's Brookside operation struck in July 1973 when they were unable to reach a contract agreement with the company.

Aronson said the rally would "serve notice on Duke Power Co. that the United Mine Workers Union is in Harlan County to stay."

"We're not going to be shot out, scared out or run out," he said.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — According to a popular saying, many of us could not afford to buy the house in which we now live, because its market value has risen so much faster than our paychecks.

In January 1972 the average price of a standard single-family house was $24,700, according to the Department of Commerce. In March of this year the same category of housing had a price tag of $35,800.

The more than 40 per cent increase in housing compares with roughly a 10 or 11 per cent increase in median family income during the same period, thus making it much more difficult for prospective homebuyers.

A similar situation is developing in regard to automobiles.

In 1955 the average retail selling price of all new cars was $2,830, and median family income was $4,421.

From that high mark, the percentage of income needed to buy a car fell fairly steadily, reaching a low of 32.6 per cent in 1973, when the average car price was $3,931 and median income was $12,051. That meant a new car cost 64 per cent of a year's income.

Now, however, the swiftly accelerating prices of cars seems to be forcing a reversal of the trend, according to Goldman, Sachs & Co., the securities house.

It estimates that the percentage will reach 33.7 for 1973, with median family income around $13,000 and new car prices averaging $4,380. In 1975 it foresees a percentage of 34, based on income of $13,900 and an average car price of $4,370.

Family To Live In Solar Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One family in Columbus will not have to fret over fuel bills this winter—their home will be heated with sunshine. They're the family who will be chosen to live in an experimental solar energy home now on exhibit at the Ohio State Fair.

The home, a one-story, four-bedroom structure containing its own solar energy plant, is a cooperative venture of Ohio State University and Homewood Corp., a private building firm based in Columbus.

"The family will not move in until mid-November," said William A. Goldman, Homewood's vice president. Goldman said the family will be selected by the Ohio Fair Commission, to whom the home is to be given. The family will be part of a test that will be conducted on the home during the next year, said Goldman.

He said that if the experiments are successful, Homewood expects to build commercial models that will cost between $30,000 and $50,000.

The solar energy plant was designed by Charles F. Sepsy, a mechanical engineering professor at Ohio State University.

Sepsy said water circulating through 37 solar panels on the roof is heated to 200 degrees by the sun. The water is then passed through a coil system where air is heated and blown through conventional ductwork into the living spaces.

"The same 200-degree water is used with another system to cool the house in the summer," Sepsy said. "And it will provide hot water for the kitchen and baths by means of a heat exchanger."

Sepsy, who teaches courses in environmental control and energy conservation, said the solar home can cut fuel bills 75 per cent.

Sepsy said there are two 2,000-gallon underground tanks, located beneath the master bedroom, that can store water heated by the sun.

"In case of an extended overcast," he said, "there's enough hot water to last five days."

Sepsy said that according to weather data, it's unusual to have more than four consecutive days of overcast weather in the Midwest, but there's a back-up system utilizing an electric heat pump just in case.

A computer will monitor various aspects of the solar energy system, Sepsy said, including inside and outside temperatures, intensity of the sun, and heat distribution.

"We'll hardly have to bother the family to collect data," he said.

See Need For Bigger Farm Profits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Farmers must get 30 per cent more for their hogs and cattle to prevent a food shortage, but the increase should not affect the consumer, says National Farmers Organization President Oren Staley.

The NFO president said Wednesday he's making a 17-day national tour to rally farmers in support of the increase needed to meet rising production costs and equalize their position in the economy.

"We can't expect food prices to remain stable when everything else is going up," Staley said at a press conference here.

He pointed out that bail wire, for example, which cost the farmer $13 last year costs him $30-$40 today.

Staley said farmers need the 30 per cent increase to maintain the high level of production necessary to feed the country.

But, he said, the increase should not be passed to the consumer.

"If the prices do go up to the consumer, it will be the buyers and retailers making the ultimate profit," Staley said.

He explained that last year consumers felt the increase in meat prices when farmers got more money for their hogs.

"We were getting 50 cents a pound for hogs then and the consumers paid for it," he said.

"But since then our prices dropped. Earlier this year farmers were only getting 25 cents to 30 cents a pound for hogs, but the consumer didn't see the decrease in the retail market. He was still paying the same high price."

Staley said today most farmers are getting about 37 cents a pound for pork, but the consumers are paying what they did when the farmer was getting 50 cents.

Problems Raised By Gaming Devices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State liquor officials say a serious problem has developed for the department since Ohio law no longer prohibits the owning or possession of slot machines.

State liquor rules still forbid gambling paraphernalia in places holding liquor permits, but officials aren't sure of the legality of permit holders having the devices in the same building but in an area not covered by the permit.

"We are presently trying to get together a policy concerning the deletion of parts of a premises from the permit," said J. Fred Rose, the liquor department's chief lawyer.

"In the past we've had requests for such action, but they are always handled on an individual basis.

"Now that slot machines have come into it, the situation appears to be getting serious to a major degree," Rose said.

Under the revised Ohio Criminal Code, slot machines and other games of chance still are illegal when used for profit, but their use for charity and pleasure is permitted.

Liquor agents raided an Elks club in Steubenville Aug. 12, confiscated four slot machines and accused the club of violating its liquor permit. Club officials said profits from the machines went to charity.

Rose said the club now has asked for permission to exclude part of the club from liquor permit coverage. He said the intent is not to serve or allow liquor consumption in the room where slot machines are located.

An American Legion post in Chillicothe that was raided by liquor agents last spring was acquitted in court of possessing gambling equipment and operating a gambling house because its profits went to charity.

But Rose pointed out that the liquor department rule against gambling is a civil regulation and "not a criminal matter."

And Capt. James Martin, deputy director for enforcement, said the department will continue to crack down on gambling on the premises of permit holders, with the exception of bingo games, which are being tolerated.

"We have cited numerous places for pinball, slot machines and the like," Martin said. "What we are trying to do now is put the fire out before it gets well along."

Theoretically, if the farmer gets his 50 cents again, the retail market price should remain stable, Staley said.

"Historically, though, it shows retailers will raise the price to the consumer and blame it on the farmer," he predicted.

Staley said he feels the consumer is becoming more sympathetic with the farmer.

"They know what we're up against, everything is raising, look at the price of automobiles," he said. "When it gets to the point that the U.S. farmer can't afford to feed the country, we're all in trouble."

Staley said his biggest problem is getting the farmer to realize "that you can't compete as individuals in an economy where everything is based on organization."

Columbus was the third stop for the NFO president who plans to visit 35 farming centers during the 17-day tour.

"I'm telling the farmers that they can't compete in today's economy unorganized, and that they must get organized nationwide since the retail industry they're dealing with is nationwide."

"I don't know how fast the farmers are going to react," Staley said. He added that so far he has had favorable reactions to his organization's push for a 30 per cent increase.

"I have had favorable response," he said, "but results talk."

House Panel OKs Cutoff Of Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP)—An amendment offered by Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, to cut off funds for expensive gifts to foreign heads of state was approved Wednesday by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Hays said he wanted to curb gifts such as the helicopter given to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and three cars given to Soviet Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev by former President Richard Nixon.

"When it gets to $5 million and $6 million, I think these gifts ought to be knocked out," Hays said. "If they want to give them a silver bowl or something, I don't mind that."

School Suit Answer Ordered

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati Board of Education must file an answer to a segregation suit filed by the NAACP by Sept. 10, according to U.S. District Court Judge David S. Porter.

Porter denied a school motion asking for the NAACP to further define their action by citing specific allegations of wrongdoing by the board.

Porter has not ruled on an NAACP request for an expedited hearing since schools open early in September. The NAACP also asked for a halt to all further school construction until the case is determined.

The NAACP suit was filed May 29. It accused the new school board of fostering racial isolation of students by failing to implement a total desegregation policy installed by the outgoing board in December for the 80,000-pupil system.

That policy called for elimination of all boundary lines in the neighborhood school system and total integration of all classrooms along both racial and economic lines.

The new board installed its own policy. That included integration of all school faculties, retention of the neighborhood system and creation of alternative schools to attract students across racial lines.

Aid To Greece Officially OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—In what was called a gesture to the new democratic regime, the House Foreign Affairs Committee voted Wednesday to repeal a never-imposed cutoff of U.S. aid to Greece.

Hays, who also authored the original aid cutoff provision, said, "Since we now have a democratic regime in Greece, or one that promises to be democratic, I think we ought to make this gesture to the people of Greece."

The provision passed by Congress prohibited U.S. foreign aid or military credit, but the aid never was cut off because President Nixon used a waiver permitted in cases of "the overriding national security requirements of the United States."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

If you still think that children's stories are filled with curly-headed darlings, fat puppies and cuddly kittens—look again!

Hot colors, flaming, screeching wheels and wild pictures now scream for your attention. "The Neon Motorcycle" is a story for now! A psychedelic Harley-Davidson takes off non-stop carrying the rider and the reader on a chase that will leave everyone breathless.

Goblins, demons and a family of spirits will reach out and grab you in "A Night on Bare Mountain." Based on a composition by Mussorgsky, it is a ghostly tale with a humorous touch. Others in the classic vein are "Carnival of the Animals" based on Saint-Saens' music and "Peter and the Wolf", illustrated with stuffed animals.

"The Little Red Hen" is more up to date now that Paul Galdone's fresh drawings have livened her up. The moral is the same and the settings are pleasantly rustic. All the animals are delightfully spunky.

Rest easy, lovers of tradition; all has not changed. Johnny Gruelle's beloved Raggedy Ann is the same soft heroine. But, did you know she is the star of many new adventures for school age children? One of her latest is "Raggedy Ann and the Wonderful Witch."

"The Stupids Step Out" will delight children who love to laugh. The Stupid family does everything backward. When they see themselves in the mirror, they roar with laughter at how stupid they look.

Everything changes with time, it seems. Witches used to be terribly cruel. Nowadays they sometimes have tender feelings. Agatha, in "The Witch's Egg", loves her little witchbird. And this bad-tempered witch actually sheds a tear when her friend flies away.

More traditional is "Tenggren's Pirates, Ships and Sailors." These blustery little tales of an older time could be read one at a time for weeks. There are 26 short stories and poems in one volume.

A beautiful book is "Lone Bull's

Inmate Killed At Marion

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Lawrence Miller, 24, an inmate at the Marion Correctional Institution, was stabbed to death Wednesday by another convict, officials reported.

Miller, who was serving a 10-25-year sentence for an armed robbery conviction in Summit County, died at Marion Community Hospital about a halfhour after the stabbing incident on the second floor of a cellblock. Officials said he had been cut 18 times.

The Corrections Department said inmate James J. Broadstone, 34, was caught at the scene and surrendered a table knife that had been sharpened.

They said charges would be brought against Broadstone, who is serving a 1-20-year sentence on an intentional cutting conviction in Cuyahoga County.

Officials said Broadstone, who has a history of heart trouble, reported experiencing chest pains shortly after the incident, and was taken to the correctional medical center in Columbus.

Horse Raid" with illustrations based on actual Indian drawings. The artist has recreated a complete era in this vivid portrayal of Indian warriors.

"Sitting Bull" is brought to life in a brief tale by Julian May for early readers. Others in this series include "Linda Richards, First American Trained Nurse" and "Harry Houdini, Master of Magic."

Cloudy tonight with a chance of showers or thundershowers. Lows in the mid 60s. Partly cloudy Friday. Highs in the 80s.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Weather Service reports some isolated showers and thundershowers may develop in Ohio Thursday afternoon and evening, with the most likely place of occurrence over the southeastern section of the state.

Although high pressure is centered off the East Coast it did not relinquish its control over the area eastward to Ohio and the lower Great Lakes region Wednesday night. It was dry with temperatures in the 60s. At dawn Thursday the lowest reading was 60 degrees shared by Toledo and Zanesville.

A cold front will move into northwestern Ohio late Thursday or early Friday, coming from the southwest. It has set off thundershowers and some of these are expected to reach Ohio by tonight, ending by Friday morning.

After highs today in the mid to upper 80s it will become somewhat cooler Friday as highs across the state range from the upper 70s into the 80s.

It Went 69 Miles

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP)—A Valparaiso man who waited more than three months for delivery of his new car had driven only 69 miles when the car started to fall apart.

Architect Douglas Pierce took his 1974 car to a garage, where mechanics told him a tie rod had fallen off, bolts inside and outside the transmission, in the bell housing and in the tie rod system were loose and the clutch linkage was dangling.

When Pierce complained, an observer quipped, "What do you expect for $4,000?"

Claim Dirty Trick In Scandal Story

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Deputy State Auditor Thomas Ferguson says dirty campaign tricks have cropped up in allegations of wrongdoings in the Youngstown office of the state Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Ferguson made the charge Wednesday as U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, R-Ohio, called for an audit of the BVR by the federal General Accounting Office.

Taft said he wanted the audit after receiving reports of "unauthorized use of funds in business ventures ... and inadequate auditing by the responsible state agency."

The allegations were published in a series of copyrighted articles by the Dayton Journal Herald earlier this week.

GOP Republican state auditor candidate Roger W. Tracy has admitted giving the information to the newspaper. Tracy appeared at the Washington news conference with Taft.

Ferguson called the charges that the auditor's office ignored alleged wrongdoings in the Youngstown office of the bureau "political charades."

He said in a news conference Wednesday that James Hollern, the bureau's chief investigator, testified in a deposition Tuesday that his supervisor, Charles Ream and Cooper Sontag, former acting director of the Rehabilitation Services Commission, deliberately withheld results of an internal investigation of the bureau.

Ferguson said Hollern did not present the report "because his (Hollern's) job was on the line."

Ferguson and Tracy are opponents in the general election race for state auditor, a post now held by Ferguson's father.

"This report was systematically leaked to the press to embarrass the governor's and the auditor's office," Ferguson said.

"We had released two of our own audits on the Rehabilitation Services Commission within the last eight months revealing a total loss ... of some $28,000 and cited those who were responsible."

Gives Scholarship

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A gift of approximately $50,000 to the Eastman School of Music will establish the Cecile Staub Genhart Scholarship Fund for piano students.

The fund is named in honor of the donor, who was a master piano teacher for many years at Eastman.

Prof. Genhart is the daughter of the Swiss composer and pianist Gottfried Staub, former teacher at the conservatories in Basel and Zurich and one of the first pianists to perform all 32 sonatas by Beethoven in one season. Her great-great-grandfather was Hans Jakob Nageli, a contemporary and good friend of Beethoven. Nageli, who was a composer, was one of the first to edit Beethoven's piano sonatas and is believed to have been first publisher of some of the works of J. S. Bach.

A member of the Eastman School faculty for 46 years, Prof. Genhart was head of the piano faculty from 1954 until her retirement in 1971. She was a piano soloist throughout Europe and the United States and made her German orchestral debut with the Berlin Philharmonic in 1922 playing Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 1" and Brahms's "Piano Concerto No. 2" on the same program.

CHILLICOTHE TOURNAMENT

Circleville 6, Chillicothe Eagles 5
The Circleville Stars, playing in the loser's bracket of the Little League Majors tournament after suffering a 6-3 set-back last week, will play Friday at 6 p.m. against Eastern A in the Chillicothe Tournament.

After spotting the Eagles two quick runs, the Circleville Stars Now 8-1, scored the winning tally in the top of the seventh inning and then held off an Eagles' two-run outburst for the win.

Mark Agin and Brad Willoughby pitched two innings each and Mark Morrison fired for three frames.

Agin walked three and fanned two, Morrison walked one and fanned four, and Willoughby struck-out three and didn't walk a batter.

They allowed nine hits.

Jerry Mogan was the hitting star, cracking a triple and double. Doug Rhoads and Morrison had two hits each to help the seven-hit Circleville attack.

ASHVILLE TOURNAMENT

Circleville 3, Teays Valley 2

The Circleville Stars advanced to the finals of the winner's bracket thanks to the win over Teays Valley. Circleville will play Mt. Sterling tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Don Holbrook fired the first five innings and Brad Willoughby retired Teays Valley in the final frame for the win.

Holbrook walked five, fanned three, and allowed four hits.

Willoughby was touched for a hit.

Circleville scored a single run in the first inning and two in the third. Teays Valley countered with a two-run fifth inning.

Ruggles took the loss. He didn't walk a batter, fanned 12, and allowed only four hits.

Jerry Mogan and Rob Bumgarner tagged doubles for Circleville and Mark Agin collected two singles.

Harbor tagged a double for Teays Valley and Neal had two hits.

Circleville 13, Amanda 0

Shawn Blue pitched a three-hit shutout against Amanda to take the Circleville Stars into the Teays Valley clash.

Blue scattered three singles, didn't walk a man, and fanned five.

Bittler took the loss as he was touched for nine hits. He walked six batters and fanned two.

Mark Agin blasted a triple and single for Circleville and Rob Spangler crashed a double.

LANCASTER TOURNAMENT

Stoutsville 7, Brookshire 2

Stoutsville battered five Brookshire pitchers for the win that advances them to the semi-final game tonight at 7 p.m. against Fairfield National.

Denny Compton and Todd Pontius each pitched three innings to share the win. They allowed four hits, walked six, and struck-out nine.

Stoutsville collected 10 hits and 13 walks. They struck-out four times.

Marcus Hartley belted a single and a triple, Jeff Harden tagged a single and a double, and Todd Pontius had a single and a double.

Hiram Bradely Wins Championship

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The first person to reach Hiram Bradley after he won the Clay Target Championship of America Wednesday was his 12-year-old look-alike son, Chuck.

Chuck stood beaming with pride as his 37-year-old father from Vest, Ky., owner of the general store in that community, explained, "I finally won the one that I wanted."

Bradley had a tough road as he broke 200 straight targets at the 75th Grand American Trapshooting Tournament, but found himself deadlocked with 17 other gunners.

Logan Elm Grid Staff Emphasizes Fundamentals

Logan Elm High School faces its second year in the Mid State League with a new football coaching staff and a field of 43 candidates.

Head coach Perry Griffith, whose coaching credentials include experience at Delaware Hayes, Bexley, University of Dayton, Centerville and the Universal Professional Football League, is "glad we've got a few days of practice left."

"We're probably satisfied with the progress the offense is making but definitely not with the defense," Griffith reports.

He has installed the I slot as the basic set for the offense and right now feels the 4-3 will be the main defensive pattern.

Because it is his first year at LE Griffith refuses to draw any comparisons with last year's team or the chances the Braves have in the league title chase.

"The first three games will tell us what kind of a season we are going to have," he says.

"We open with West Jeff, a powerhouse, then play Millersport and Canal Winchester, teams that are always strong. If we can win two of those first three games we'll have a good season," he opines.

The 43 candidates at LE have been doing a lot of running to get in condition, and they are in good condition the coaching staff believes. But with an entirely new system to learn, they are lacking in the knowledge of the fundamentals. "We have to learn the basics," Griffith says.

Every position on the team is up for grabs right now. After the Saturday scrimmage at Adena Griffith and his staff will have some idea who the leading contenders at each spot will be.

The Braves have three pre season scrimmages this year. Besides the session at Adena Saturday, they are at Madison Plains Wednesday and host Paint Valley 8 p.m. Aug. 31. The Braves coaching staff would like for the team's fans to come to that Aug. 31 scrimmage to get a first hand look at the squad.

The new coach is very enthusiastic about his staff.

"This is as good a high school staff as I have ever worked with — a remarkable bunch," according to Griffith. Bill Frost coaches the receivers and linebackers. He has five years of head coaching experience.

Nick Dampopoulos, is coaching the defensive and offensive backs. A graduate of West High School in Columbus he has played football both on the college level and in the Marines.

Steve Barney is the lone member of the LE staff from last year. He will be in charge of offensive and defensive lines. As reserve coach the past four years, his teams have lost only four games. The 43 candidates for the squad include a dozen freshman. The LE staff hopes that more freshmen will turn out for the squad as the season approaches. They have a separate program for the young players.

Girls' Softball Tourney Planned

The Fayette County Softball Association is sponsoring an ASA sanctioned girls' softball tournament for B or C teams Sept. 7 and 8 in Eymann Park, Washington C.H.

Drawing will be held at the park 7:30 p.m. Sept. 4, at which time $20 of the $45 entry fee will be due.

Trophies will be awarded to the first three teams and to individuals on the first two teams. Two other trophies will be given.

The tournament is open to the first 20 teams to register.

Further information may be obtained from Chester Esty, 335-1985; Jack Merriman, 335-2964; or Linda Zarse, 335-7868.

WINNING LADIES—Team 5 collected 91½ points to edge teams 3 and 4, who each scored 89½, and win the Pickaway Country Club Ladies League. Members of the winning team are, from the left, Jan McKelvey, Jackie Moore, Betty Danford, and Mae Huggins. Members of team 3 are Phyllis Williams, Helen Kittle, Marjorie Porter, and Joan Elliott. Members of team 4 are Miriam Young, Helen Jacobs, Betty Brian, and Alice Camp.

Phillies Batter Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "If there's any park in the National League I should be nervous in it's Riverfront Stadium. But I can't tell you why I'm not."

So said Philadelphia Phillies third baseman Mike Schmidt of nearby Dayton, Ohio, after he collected his 31st and 32nd home runs in a 10-3 drubbing of the Cincinnati Reds.

Red Sox Blank Chicago

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

"He looked like Cy Young out there today."

Wilbur Wood, the busy knuckleballer of the Chicago White Sox, could only stand back Wednesday and admire the performance turned in by Boston's Roger Moret.

Moret, a tall, lean left-hander, limited Chicago to just one hit—an infield single—and struck out 12 in pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 4-0 victory over the White Sox, fanning Wood's third try for his 19th victory. Moret is now 7-5, Wood 18-15.

And if Moret's fielding was as impeccable as his pitching, the White Sox would still be looking for their first hit. The only safety was a slow grounder by Dick Allen in the seventh inning which rolled off the tip of Moret's glove, then was fielded by second baseman Doug Griffin too late for a play at first.

Elsewhere in the American League, Texas beat Baltimore 5-1, Cleveland edged Kansas City 7-6, New York defeated Minnesota 4-1, Milwaukee trimmed Oakland 5-3 and Detroit blanked California 2-0.

Despite Allen's single, Moret was given the no-hit treatment by the Boston front office—his contract was torn up and he received a $1,000 raise.

Rangers 5, Orioles 1

Jeff Burroughs slugged a two-run homer to power Texas to victory, raising his season total of runs batted in to 102, tops in the majors. It was his 25th homer of the year and the 25th given up by Baltimore's Ross Grimsley, 14-11.

Texas starter Jim Bibby, 18-14, blanked the Orioles on four hits until the eighth, when he needed relief help from Jim Merritt and then Steve Foucault.

Indians 7, Royals 6

Consecutive two-out ninth-inning singles by Joe Lis, Frank Duffy, Rico Carty and Charlie Spikes lifted the Indians past Kansas City.

The Royals had jumped in front 6-5 with five runs in the seventh inning, four of them on Vada Pinson's grand slam homer.

Yankees 4, Twins 1

Graig Nettles drove in three runs with a double and a single to lead the Yankees to victory. George "Doc" Medich, 15-11, scattered six hits for the victory.

Brewers 5, A's 3

Kevin Kobel, a last-minute starter, teamed with Tom Murphy on a three-hitter, pitching Milwaukee past Oakland.

Kobel, who pitched because Jim Colborn came up with a pulled hamstring muscle, allowed just two hits in seven innings—a leadoff single to Bert Campaneris in the first and a two-run homer by Reggie Jackson in the seventh.

Murphy gave up an eighth inning homer to Gene Tenace's.

Angels 2, Tigers 0

Andy Hassler's four-hit pitching and run-scoring hits by Denny Doyle and Bruce Bochte gave the California Angels a 2-0 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

Captain Sal Bando of the Oakland Athletics broke in with Burlington, Iowa, in the Midwest League in 1965 and hit .262. His major league career average is .263.

Relief pitcher Jack Aker has been with seven different major league teams.

Schmidt, who leads the National League in home runs and runs batted in (98) has hit five four-baggers in the last five games and scored eight times.

The victory Wednesday night was the Phils only one against two losses in the series and moved Philadelphia within 1½ games of St. Louis, who lead the Eastern Division.

Cincinnati dropped back to 3½ behind Los Angeles in the West.

"We're back on," said Phils Manager Danny Ozark, looking forward to hosting the Reds in Philadelphia starting Monday. "We're playing good ball again. We'll win because we're playing good baseball."

"It's not so hard to take a 10-3 drubbing as it would be a 2-1 or 1-0 loss," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. "They just clobbered us, that's all there was to it."

"Sure, it hurt to drop 3½ behind the Dodgers, but there's still plenty of time left to catch up, including six games between our two teams."

Schmidt said he had shortened his batting swing recently and that has made the difference.

"Three weeks ago I couldn't have hit those two home runs. But home runs—when you hit one you don't think about home runs any more."

"You get the second when you're trying to just keep the ball in the ball park," he said.

It was Jim Lonborg's second victory over Cincinnati this year and his record is 14-10 for the season. Rookie Tom Carroll was the loser for Cincinnati, 4-1.

Lonborg had given the Reds only five hits until their three-run eighth inning, which included George Foster's two-run homer. Pete Rose tripled and scored on Joe Morgan's ground out.

Then, with Johnny Bench up, Bob Boone called time out and asked Lonborg how he was feeling.

"Swell," I said," Lonborg recalled. "I'm great, now watch this."

"It was a stupid thing to say, I guess," said Lonborg, "but it sounded great at the time."

With that Lonborg uncorked three straight hard curve balls and Bench fanned. "I should have stuck with my curve. It's the best strike pitch I have," said Lonborg. "But in a high-scoring game you concentrate on trying to keep away from walks."

Dave Cash, Willie Montanez and Mike Anderson had two-run scoring hits for the Phillies.

Cincinnati goes to Montreal Friday. The Phils head for Houston.

Crimson Tide To Roll Again

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — "Every year looks real bad for us and this one is no exception," says Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant, whose Alabama football team missed the national title last time by two points.

Other teams should have it so bad, with the Crimson Tide the favorite to capture an unprecedented fourth straight Southeastern Conference championship and go to its 16th straight post-season bowl, a record, and its 28th bowl trip over-all, also a record.

But conference titles and bowl trips are almost secondary to Bryant, who says, "The national championship is our goal every year."

Bryant's 231 coaching victories put him third on the alltime list.

He has won three national championships at Alabama but the closest the Tide has come to the title since its 1956 national championship was last Dec. 31 in the Sugar Bowl when Notre Dame won a thriller 24-23 and captured the honor. Alabama was ranked fourth in the final poll.

Despite Bryant's worries, he admits his upcoming team has several strong points: Quarterbacks, runners and defense.

"But our team speed is very ordinary, especially our offensive line, and we are going to have to improve our kicking game," Bryant says.

Senior Gary Rutledge and junior Richard Todd, who shared duties last season, again will be the quarterbacks with backup help from Robert Fraley. Bryant says Todd also might do the punting, making the fake punt a threat.

"We've got running backs running out our ears," he says, but "they've got to block better than they did in the spring to make the wishbone go."

They include Randy Billingsley, Calvin Culiver, Willie Shelby, James Taylor, Mike Stock and Ralph Stokes, all veterans.

Runner Wilbur Jackson and split end Wayne Wheeler, sparks of last year, are gone, and Bryant says, "We don't have anyone who can replace them."

Competing for Wheeler's job are Joe Dale Harris, Thad Flanagan, Wayne Rhodes and Russ Schamun.

George Pugh at tight end and Sylvester Croom at center are solid, but other line positions are unsettled.

Linebacker Woodrow Lowe, whom Bryant compares to LeRoy Jordan, anchors a testing defense that also includes Mike Washington, Tyrone King and Ricky Davis in the secondary, and Mike Dubose, Leroy Cook, Randy Hall and Steve Kulback on the line.

Alabama opens Sept. 14 at Maryland and Bryant says the Terrapins "will be the most difficult team we'll have to beat. I'm not saying they'll be the best we play, but they'll be the most difficult team because we're an unsettled team."

Arizona State will play nine of its 11 football games at night. That includes a visit to Hawaii on Dec. 7.

Pirates Trip San Francisco

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Those loud noises coming from directly behind the St. Louis Cardinals are the hardcharging Philadelphia Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates, who think October would be a lovely time to be playing baseball ... in Pennsylvania.

Both pursuers picked up a full game Wednesday night, closing to within 1½ games of the Cardinals, leaders in the National League's East Division. The Pirates tripped San Francisco 4-2 and the Phillies battered Cincinnati 10-3 while St. Louis was dropping a 5-4 decision at Atlanta.

In other NL games Wednesday, Los Angeles upped its West Division lead to 3½ games by defeating Chicago 7-5, New York ripped Houston 10-2 and Montreal nipped San Diego 8-7.

Ed Kirkpatrick had an early two-run homer and the Pirates were tied at 2-2 in the ninth inning against San Francisco. Then Paul Popovich delivered a pinch hit sacrifice fly that scored the go-ahead run.

Then Dock Ellis, who throttled the Giants on seven hits, singled home another run for the Pirates. The victory was Ellis' seventh straight, the last three complete games.

The Phillies won impressively Wednesday night, riding a 15-hit attack that included two home runs by Mike Schmidt, who boosted his NL leading totals to 32 homers and 98 runs batted in.

Schmidt and Mike Anderson each had three hits for the Phillies while Del Unser added a homer to Schmidt's two shots. George Foster homered for the Reds.

Braves 5, Cardinals 4
Atlanta beat St. Louis for the third straight time with Darrell Evans and Mike Lum hitting home runs. Evans homered in each of those three games and now has 16 for the season.

Buzz Capra limited the Cardinals to just two hits over the first six innings but left in the eighth, during which the Cards scored twice. They added one more in the ninth.

Dodgers 7, Cubs 5
The Dodgers completed a three-game sweep at Chicago and restored a full game to their West Division lead.

Willie Crawford crashed a three-run homer for Los Angeles and Andy Messersmith earned his 14th victory with late help from relief ace Mike Marshall, appearing in his 82nd game this year.

Rookies Andre Thornton and Jim Tyrone homered for the Cubs.

Mets 10, Astros 2
Rusty Staub drove in four runs and Jerry Koosman coasted on a six-hitter as New York battered Houston.

Five Astros errors helped the Mets to three unearned runs.

Expos 8, Padres 7
Barry Foote's two-out single tied the score for Montreal in the bottom of the ninth and after pinch-hitter Ken Singleton was intentionally walked, Ron Hunt singled home Montreal's winner against San Diego.

Top Midwest Grid Teams Have Problems

By JERRY LISKA
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Notre Dame, Ohio State and Oklahoma last season gave the sprawling Midlands the nation's top three college football teams.

But two of that talented threesome have new problems this year and the third has a holdover fly in the ointment.

National champion Notre Dame ran into summer woes with the loss of seven potential starters through injuries and violation of campus rules.

The Big Ten's Ohio State, ranked No. 2 in the final Associated Press poll, has a stillbristling squad but an ailing coach—Woody Hayes, recovering from a summer heart attack.

No. 3 Oklahoma, again tabbed the Big Eight team to beat, once more is all dressed up with no place to go—bowlwise, that is. The Sooners have one more season left under conference probation for recruiting irregularities.

Elsewhere in the Midlands, Tulsa is a slight favorite over North Texas State to take the Missouri Valley Conference title both shared last season, and Kent State is a strong choice to dethrone Miami of Ohio in the Mid-American Conference.

Everything pointed toward Notre Dame catapulting from its classic 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over Alabama to another perfect season until trouble began mounting for Coach Ara Parseghian.

Among the keenest losses are key running back Eric Penick, who tore an ankle in spring practice and may be benched until midseason or later, and two regulars among six players bounced recently for violation of school rules—defensive end Ross Browner and safety Luther Bradley.

But Parseghian still has back eight offensive starters, including talented quarterback Tom Clements, and six defensive regulars to tackle an Irish schedule starting Sept. 9 in a nationally televised game at Georgia Tech and winding up Nov. 30 with another national TV contest against perhaps the sternest foe of the season, Southern California.

Ohio State returns 16 regulars from the Buckeye club which tied Michigan 10-10 for a share of last season's Big Ten title and then, as a controversial conference delegate to the Rose Bowl, clobbered Southern California 42-21.

Hayes' protege and current arch-rival coach at Michigan, Bo Schembechler, also has suffered a heart attack.

Schembechler came back strong from his 1972 attack.

Like Michigan, again bracketed with Ohio State as the Big 2 against the Little 8 in the Big Ten race, the Buckeyes have an outstanding quarterback.

It could be that the Big Ten title again will be settled on the final Saturday, Nov. 23, between Ohio State and Michigan.

Ohio State is missing such standouts as offensive tackle John Hicks, the nation's top interior lineman of 1973, and a demon linebacking trio in Randy Gradishar, Rick Middleton and Vic Koegel.

But Hayes still has running back Archie Griffin, who cruised for Big Ten and Buckeye school records of 1,577 yards last season, and two splendid fullbacks in Champ Henson and Pete Johnson.

Michigan, bidding for a fourth straight Big Ten title, must rebuild offensive and defensive lines, but Schembechler could have the fastest backfield in Wolverine history.

Behind quarterback Dennis Franklin, Chuck Heater was moved from tailback to fullback, Gil Chapman shifts from tailback to wingback and a pair of swifties, Gordon Bell and Rob Lytle, share tailback.

As for the rest of the Big Ten, Minnesota again may be the closest pursuer of the Ohio State-Michigan tandem with Illinois, Purdue, Michigan State and Northwestern each having a chance to break out of the fourth-place tie they shared last season.

The Big Eight has one new coach, Bill Mallory, who moved to Colorado after fashioning a 39-12-0 five-season record at Miami of Ohio.

However, Mallory's Buffalos are pegged to join Nebraska and Missouri in a chase after highly regarded Oklahoma, undefeated in its last 18 games and strongly favored to capture a third straight Big Eight crown.

Nebraska, sharing last season's Big Eight runnerup spot with Kansas, is rated slightly ahead of Missouri as a challenger to Oklahoma and the Cornhuskers' Nov. 23 clash with the Sooners again looms as the league's pivotal battle.

Colorado, Oklahoma State, Kansas, Iowa State and Kansas State are pegged to finish in that order.

Birmingham Tops Jacksonville, 15-14

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Welcome to the World Football League, Charlie Tate.

And welcome back, Matthew Reed.

Tate coached his first game Wednesday night—and must know exactly how Bud Asher felt.

Asher was fired by Jacksonville last Saturday after the Sharks, who had a knack of losing close games in the closing minutes, had dropped to a 2-4 mark.

Tate's debut came against unbeaten Birmingham.

The result: The Americans stayed unbeaten and the Sharks showed they still have the knack.

Reed, Birmingham's rookie quarterback from Grambling who has his own knack of taking over in style when veteran George Mira gets hurt, did it again. He drove the Americans to two touchdowns in the fourth quarter—the second one coming with barely a minute to play—for a 15-14 victory over the Sharks.

In Wednesday night's other WFL games, the New York Stars demolished the Houston Texans 43-10, the Memphis Southmen obliterated the Hawaiians 60-8, the Southern California Sun bested the Philadelphia Bell 31-18 and the Florida Blazers beat the Portland Storm 11-7. The Chicago Fire visits the Detroit Wheels tonight.

Grant Guthrie had kicked field goals of 31 and 51 yards to give the Sharks a 6-0 lead going into the final period. But Reed threw a 27-yard touchdown pass to Alfred Jenkins to put the Americans ahead.

Then, after the a Jacksonville touchdown moved the Sharks back in front, Reed mounted the winning touchdown drive.

Stars 43, Texans 10
New York's Bob Gladieux made it look easy. He ran for 84 yards and three touchdowns and caught a Tom Sherman pass for a fourth score in the Stars' rout of Houston for their fifth straight victory. The Texans gave up 231 rushing yards.

Southmen 60, Hawaiians 8
Quarterback John Huarte threw four first-half scoring passes and Dick Thornton and Bobby Majors turned interceptions into touchdowns in Memphis' rout of the Hawaiians.

Thornton took his 54 yards, Majors 55 yards.

Huarte clicked on 14 of 21 passes for 264 yards, then sat out most of the second half.

Sun 31, Bell 28
Alonzo Emery's third one-yard scoring run of the game with 52 seconds remaining had the Sun shining in Philadelphia.

The touchdown offset the passing of Jim "King" Corcoran, who threw three Philadelphia touchdown passes.

And he wanted to go for a fourth one, but was overruled. The Bell went for a tie instead with three seconds to play. But Jerry Warren's 36-yard field goal attempt was blocked.

Blazers 11, Storm 7
Greg Latta scored on a second-period 20-yard toss from Bob Davis, then caught his action-point pass, to lead Florida past Portland.

The winless Storm came within one point of the Blazers early in the fourth period when quarterback Ken Johnson ran the ball in from the one. But cornerback Billy Hayes intercepted Johnson's action-point pass.

Flint Reaches Finals In Connie Mack Tilt

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP)—Flint, Mich., grabbed a 6-5 baseball victory Wednesday night over defending champion Long Beach, Calif., to move into Thursday's finals against Reading, Ohio, in the 1974 Connie Mack World Series.

Flint used a throwing error in the sixth inning to score two runs and take the come from behind semifinal victory.

This is Hank Aaron's ninth and final season with the Atlanta Braves. He played 12 previous seasons with the Braves in Milwaukee.

Alan King Heads Fete For Glenn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 900 persons attended a $100-a-plate fundraiser for U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn Wednesday night, but a television comedian dominated the program.

Comedian Alan King, who said he first met the Democratic candidate after he became the first American to orbit the earth, was the top attraction. Glenn spoke only at the end of the program, thanking persons who had attended and introducing the minister who gave the benediction.

King ad-libbed and told jokes for more than an hour and, according to one Democrat, may have gotten the Democratic nominee into a little bit of hot water.

King said he first met Glenn in McLean, Va., shortly after his trip into space and that Glenn, in a conversation then, told him he believed in gun control.

Glenn, during his current campaign, has backed off from gun control legislation, saying he believes only in outlawing the so-called Saturday night specials.

State Sen. Robert Secrest, D-20 Cambridge, a longtime Glenn backer, said that King "obviously doesn't know his position has changed."

"I don't think it will hurt Glenn," Secrest said, "I believe most people in Ohio know his position on guns by now."

King was preceded in his remarks by ex-football star Roosevelt Grier, who played a guitar and sang several songs.

Gov. John Gilligan introduced the state Democratic ticket and gave particular attention to judicial candidates.

"Where would we be tonight if we hadn't had a judge on the federal court like Judge Sirica," Gilligan said, referring to the judge who forced Watergate figures into a full disclosure of the burglary.

Sirica, incidentally, is a Republican.

Senate Trims Military Cash In Effort To Fight Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has trimmed military appropriations by nearly $5 billion, while balking at proposals to cut even more deeply into the Pentagon's budget.

The action came Wednesday, the same day in which President Ford briefly addressed both the Senate and the House. Ford renewed his call for cooperation and announced that Pennsylvania Avenue, which connects the White House with the Capitol, has once again "become a two-way street."

Both the House and the Senate passed bills and took other legislative action at a brisk pace in advance of the recess which begins at the end of the week.

In passing the defense spending bill and sending it to a conference with the House, the Senate first rejected an amendment placing an $81 billion spending ceiling on the Pentagon for fiscal 1975. The amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., lost 35 to 57.

Also defeated was an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to strip $150 million from the $700 million earmarked for military aid to South Vietnam.

In its final form, the military appropriation passed by the Senate totals slightly more than $82 billion. That figure is some $5 billion less than the amount requested by former President Richard M. Nixon.

It is also $1.31 billion less than the sum voted by the House but $3.1 billion more than the amount appropriated in the last fiscal year.

Appropriations Committee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the cut, the largest in history, was necessary for inflationary reasons but still maintains an adequate defense.

In other congressional action Wednesday:

—The Senate readied for final action today a bill giving stronger protection to 35 to 40 million employees covered by private pension plans.

—The Senate passed and sent to the House a compromise bill giving veterans attending school under the GI Bill a 23 per cent increase in monthly benefits. Ford has said he will not hesitate to veto the measure if he finds it inflationary.

—An attempt in the House Ways and Means Committee to reach a compromise on national health insurance collapsed amid disagreement on how to finance the program which would cover virtually every American's health needs.

—The House authorized the first study since 1959 of foreign investments in this country. Several congressmen said foreigners are buying up coal and other minerals in dangerous quantities.

—A bill to put a ceiling on federal spending through joint White House and congressional action was introduced by a bipartisan group of senators. The bill would hold the federal budget to $295 billion for the current fiscal year.

—Ford expressed last-minute objections to proposed changes in the Freedom of Information Act but a congressional conference committee went only part way to meet them.

Cattle Price Rise Helps Producers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Higher market prices for grain-fed cattle recently have helped producers reduce losses from the $100 or more per head paid last winter, but government experts say they still are a long way from being out of the woods.

The main reason: A report on Aug. 12 by the Agriculture Department that the 1974 corn crop will be sharply less than counted on earlier this year. That means livestock feed prices will continue high through next winter at least.

It also means, according to USDA economists, that farmers and feedlot operators will think twice about restocking pens and that an increasing proportion of the nation's beef will come from nonfed cattle, animals grazed on pastures or fed less grain.

George Hoffman, a USDA livestock economist, said the lower-grade cattle — many of them cows culled from herds — are coming to market in larger numbers this summer and have accounted for a larger share of the total beef output.

In fact, Hoffman told a reporter Wednesday, total beef production by federally-inspected packing plants in July was up 16 per cent from a year earlier, according to preliminary figures. It also was up from June production, he said.

Meanwhile, production of feedlot cattle has gone into a tailspin in recent months because of the squeeze on profits resulting from low market prices for cattle in relation to feed costs.

A seven-state survey showed that July marketings of feedlot cattle dropped 10 per cent from a year earlier and that the total number of animals being fed for slaughter as of Aug. 1 in those states was down 23 per cent from the same date last year.

Even so, Hoffman said, there has been no shortage of choice-grade beef on store counters so far. One reason, he said, is the feedlot pipeline apparently has enough cattle in it to satisfy most consumer wants.

"We don't have a short supply of fed beef (from grain-fattened animals) yet," Hoffman said. "But by fall we expect fed beef supplies to begin dropping and probably be short of demand."

The summer drought, a main factor in a shortened corn crop this year, also has burned up many ranges and pastures. In many areas, particularly in the Southwest, cattlemen have been forced to buy expensive supplemental feed or to sell part of their herds.

If recent breaks in the drought improve fall pasture prospects significantly, the selloffs could be slowed and the cattle kept on grass. In that case, USDA experts say market prices could rise to around $50 per 100 pounds in the fall.

Americans In Greece Stay Hidden

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Helen McCarty comes from New York, but she tells Greeks her home is in Canada.

Paul Canavos of Newton, Mass., has an American-registered car but he is not driving it these days.

U.S. citizens in Greece are going "underground," fearful of the strong wave of anti-American feeling sweeping the country.

Many Greeks blame Washington for not preventing Turkey's invasion of Cyprus. Others are angry because of the U.S. support of the now defunct military junta that governed Greece. Shouts of "Kissinger murderer" and "CIA go home" are a common occurrence in the streets of Athens, normally bustling with foreign tourists at this time of the year. Cars owned by Americans, both civilians and military personnel, have been burned.

The U.S. Embassy usually has some 7,000 American tourists registered at this time, but the present figure is 300. The Americans remaining are assuming a very low profile.

"I asked this clerk at the bank if I could change my travelers checks. He gave me a cold stare and told me to wait 10 minutes," said Mrs. McCarty. "There was nobody in front of me and I decided to wait. When he saw I was prepared to go, he screamed at me: 'I said 10 minutes.'"

"That was it. I got the message and walked off. Now I tell everyone I'm a Canadian."

Other Americans tell of similar experiences. Taxi drivers suddenly can't speak English. Normally efficient waiters move at a snail's pace when the customer is American.

The U.S. embassy said it received at least 300 calls last weekend from Americans complaining of bad treatment. None said they had been physically hurt, but sometimes the hostility bordered on injury.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Extra responsibilities indicated. Tackle regular duties first, then take on what you can — within reason. Don't overcrowd your schedule.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your inherent sympathetic nature could lead you astray now, so take all factors into account if asked for favors — material or otherwise. Curb emotions.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Relations with the public, organizational work, special events, unique projects highly favored. Capitalize on your versatility.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You have an excellent chance of getting the information you need if you go the right sources. Your intuition will be helpful in this respect.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some changes may be proposed. Study everything from an objective viewpoint. Change for its own sake could cost you ground. Concentrate on purposeful aims.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Don't let sympathy enter into business deals, nor cold calculation enter what should be a sensitive, warm relationship. Be discriminating in all things.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Devoid of planetary encouragement now, you may tend to feel lost. But don't. Instead, accelerate, reactivate your interests, and you will land on safe shores.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Some opposition, but also plenty of smooth sailing if you are ready to pitch in and set your sights straight toward worthwhile goals. Appraise values warily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Restrain yourself, no matter how strong the urge to take direct action becomes. This is a day for planning — not for involvement in complex situations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Collaborate on a program with associates who have allied interests and principles. Some excellent ideas could result from a "meeting of minds."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Stellar influences mild, yet you can have a successful day. Taboo wild schemes, daring ventures. There's a tendency toward recklessness now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Some persons may react in a manner not fully anticipated. Do not let this throw you off balance or ruin your innately serene disposition.

YOU BORN TODAY, as a Leo-Virgo cuspal (one born at the change of Signs), possess many of the traits of both, which makes you a most interesting individual. You have the typical reserve of the Virgoan; are not as dynamic and expressive as the average Leoite but, on the other hand, are far more practical than your Leo brother. You could be a tremendous success in the business and financial worlds; also in real estate and manufacturing. Thermal Heat Helps Buffalo

Washington (AP) — While Americans in general are just now waking up to the possibilities of thermal heat and power, Yellowstone Park buffalo have been benefiting from it for generations.

A National Park Service report says that hot springs in the park are largely responsible for the survival of this country's only wild buffalo herd. Reduced to 23 animals in 1901, the herd now numbers over 800.

Dr. Margaret Mary Meagher, a research biologist, says that areas kept snow-free by the springs have been of great importance to the bison population during critical periods. The herd's chief hazard is severe winter weather and heavy snow. That's when the warm ground areas come in handy.

A three minute telephone call between Honolulu and San Francisco cost $21 in 1929.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Next month, a new kind of television network plans to start transmitting sports and special-interest programs to an estimated 85 communities in five mid-America states.

What makes the network totally unlike ABC, NBC or CBS is that it'll serve only cable-TV subscribers, not the general viewing public.

It was created by Target Network Television, a Kansas City, Mo., firm which says it'll feed programs to 70 microwave-linked cable-TV systems in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma. TNT, which doesn't own the firms, refers to them as "affiliates."

If all goes well, says Tom Lemmons, general manager of TNT, a subsidiary of KMBA-TV in Kansas City, the company hopes to extend the network into Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

He says his firm will provide its affiliates with its own programming, not that of KMBA, seven days a week. Broadcast hours will be from 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., except on Sundays.

Right now, he added, Sunday programming hours are scheduled to run from 4 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., but may be increased.

TNT officials emphasize they aren't trying to compete with mass entertainment shows offered by the networks and independent TV stations.

They say they instead hope to draw "clearly defined special interest audiences and make them reachable to special interest advertisers."

Lemmons says it'll try to do this with shows on cooking, auto repair, boating and health care, to cite a few examples, in addition to its evening professional and collegiate sports offerings.

He says TNT also will have two news packages — the first a noon report consisting of brief news summaries, live reports from the Chicago and Kansas City boards of trade and farm-oriented weather reports.

In the evening, he said, there'll be updated boards of trade summaries, sports reports and hard news, the last provided by Television News, Inc., a New York-based TV news service created to service local stations.

According to Federal Communications Commission officials and cable-TV industry experts, the TNT interstate operation only is the second of its kind to operate in the United States so far.

The first, the New York-based Home Box Office company, a cable-TV subsidiary of Time-Life, Inc., began its operations in November 1972.

Bengals Deal

2 Players

To Falcons

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati Bengals sent two highly-regarded prospects packing Wednesday in return for another high draft choice.

The Bengals, already well-stocked for future drafts with six first-round picks in the next three years, dealt center Tom DeLeone and rookie running back Haskell Stanback to the Atlanta Falcons.

The deal involves a "high" draft choice in 1975, according to Coach Paul Brown.

DeLeone, 24, was an All-Big 10 center and captain for Ohio State in 1971. The 6-foot-2, 250-pound lineman was entering his third year with the Bengals, all in a reserve role.

Stanback, the all-time rushing leader at the University of Tennessee, was a No. 5 draft choice of the Bengals. He was second leading rusher in three straight Cincinnati exhibition victories. He averaged 4.2 yards per carry in 29 attempts.

He was among 17 striking veterans who boycotted training camp for a month.

DeLeone said he welcomed the trade. "I'm finally out of Ohio," said the Kent, Ohio, native. He did not elaborate.

"Tom is ready to play first string," said Brown, "but with Bob Johnson here he was stymied."

Stanback drew high praise from Bengal offensive backfield coach Jack Donaldson.

"He'll start for them and make All-Pro before he's through," predicted Donaldson. "That's how highly I regard him. He's a class guy."

Ed Williams

Wants Slot

With Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Times have changed for Ed Williams. So has the size of his paycheck. "But I want the real thing," says the jumbo-sized Cincinnati Bengals fullback.

To Williams, "the real thing" is a fulltime job with the Bengals.

A year ago he was laboring in an obscure semi-pro football league for what he termed "cornflakes." He was spotted by a Bengal scout and spent three months on the National Football League's taxi squad for $500 a week.

"There's only one step left," says the confident newcomer. But he's facing stern odds. He's a free agent, one of the few signed by Cincinnati in recent years.

Williams brushes off any talk that he might fail in his bid.

"I don't think it matters if you're a free agent or a first round draft choice. What matters is what you do when you finally get your chance," he says.

"I think I've proven I can play pro football," says the bearded 6-foot-2 Spencer, Okla., native.

Williams is the leading ground gainer for unbeaten Cincinnati after three straight exhibition victories.

Patients' Legal Clinic Success

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — For patients at the Toledo Mental Health Center, the road to recovery often includes a stop at Robin Kennedy's busy three-room office.

Kennedy, 29-year-old attorney and law professor, heads a one-of-a-kind clinic where patients can go with their legal problems.

"Solving a patient's legal hassles often contributes to solving his psychological problems," said Kennedy, who has directed the clinic since its creation last September.

With a staff of eight legal interns from the University of Toledo's law college, Kennedy deals with a wide range of casework — divorce, custody, bankruptcy, debts, wills, social security problems.

"More than 30 per cent of our cases involve commitment or release," Kennedy said. "There was a woman, for instance, an epileptic, whose husband had her put away because he didn't want her at home."

"There was no good reason for her confinement. She wasn't hurting herself or anybody. We represented her and got her out."

Ordinarily, Kennedy said, mental patients are not lucky enough to have such an advocacy service.

"The mental patient is perhaps the most legally powerless person in our society," he said. "When mental patients enter a hospital, especially if they are committed for an indefinite period, they can be stripped of all their rights ... even the right to move about as they please."

Many of them cannot afford legal services, Kennedy said. And even if they were permitted out of the hospital, they would find legal aid societies backed up with casework.

The Mental Health Legal Clinic, the official name of this first project of its kind at an Ohio-operated mental health facility, offers patients at Toledo a way out of this dilemma.

In nearly a year of operation it has handled cases for about 300 of the center's 1,160 patients.

"And many more than that number have been given advice," Kennedy added.

The clinic's successes have been highest in cases dealing with commitment, Kennedy said, but there have been many lesser victories.

"One of our clients was a woman in her mid-20s who had signed a $280 note and paid a $15 registration fee at an employment agency for a job the agency referred her to," he said.

"Before she could take the job," he went on, "she was committed to the hospital by a court. But the employment agency still wanted its $280."

Kennedy said that by negotiating with the agency, not only was he able to get the note canceled, but the agency refunded the $15.

Lucasville Inmate Indicted In Slaying

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — David R. Lovejoy, 30, of Atwater, a Lucasville penitentiary inmate, was indicted by a Scioto County Grand Jury Wednesday on an aggravated murder charge in the fatal stabbing of another inmate.

Lovejoy was charged in the July 27 death of Robert Drury, 25, of Willard. The stabbing was the last of four that occurred during a two-week period last month and prompted a shakedown at the prison.

Arena Cleared For Ford Speech

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The White House has cleared use of St. John's Arena for President Ford's commencement address to graduating Ohio State University seniors Aug. 30, school officials said Wednesday.

The arena is the normal site of summer commencement exercises, but Ford's appearance required that it be cleared for security purposes.

The school said only the 2,500 graduating students, their families and friends will be able to obtain tickets for the ceremonies in the 13,400-seat arena.

Home Investment Time

Your home. If you're like most Americans it's the largest single investment you'll ever make.

Investing in a home is a good, solid investment, most Americans feel is well worth making. . . it's an investment well worth protecting, too. To be sure that your home increases in value through the years, maintenance is important. . . home improvements are important. These are relatively small investments which yield truly rewarding dividends.

At Lowe's, you'll find investments in fuel savings: insulation, storm doors and windows. . . investments in appearance: carpet, kitchen cabinets, paint and paneling. . . investments in comfort and entertainment: kitchen appliances, washers and dryers, air conditioners, stereos and televisions. Let Lowe's show you how to save money. . . while investing it wisely.
